

Gen. MacArthur Hovers Between Life and Death

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur, gripped in a deepening coma, was in ominous straits today but described as resting quietly. Army doctors said in late afternoon that his vital functions—such as heartbeat, blood pressure and breathing—were becoming increasingly difficult to sustain. Earlier, they said his liver had ceased to function. Only a miracle could save him, the doctors said.

Ironically, a long-standing smoldering ailment of the liver, which surgeons hoped they had halted by the first of his three major operations, now is the principal threat to the life of MacArthur, 84.

But a veritable constellation of conditions poses odds against the fight for life of the man whose will to live and strength and fiber have inspired his doctors.

The functioning of his liver virtually has stopped and the functioning of all his other major vital systems, including his heart, is becoming increasingly difficult to sustain.

That was the grave picture given by a grim-faced Lieut. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the army's surgeon general. He heads the team of surgeons, doctors, nurses, and other personnel which has striven to save the life of the old hero of three wars.

Heaton's rather detailed account of MacArthur's apparently mortal combat was made more poignant by this:

His story of how the hero of the Philippines—in the short-lived convalescence following his first operation—kept his doctors spellbound with his recited memories of war experiences dating back to Flanders of World War I.

Corregidor, I said and hoping, subsequent Japanese government situation were given in turn to us in beautifully composed English which to me is second to none," said Heaton, obviously moved by the memory of the bedside session with MacArthur.

Integrity Appeal Made At LDS Meet

SALT LAKE CITY, April 4 (AP)—The 90-year-old president of the LDS church appealed today for greater virtue in government and said the strength of a nation is judged by its integrity.

President David O. McKay told the 134th annual general conference that "honesty, sincerity of purpose must be dominant traits of character in leaders of a nation that would be truly great."

"No nation will become great," he said, "whose trusted officers will pass legislation for personal gain, who will take advantage of a public office for personal preference, or to gratify ambition, or who will, through forgery, chicanery, and fraud, rob the government, or be false in office to a public trust."

McKay, who has been church president and spiritual head of the world's Mormons since 1951, opened the opening of the three-day session. He spoke to an overflow audience in the famed Salt Lake tabernacle, and on nationwide television.

The white-haired church leader also said there are "three dangers threatening the success and happiness of youth," identifying them as smoking, divorce and immorality.

Debris Is Searched After Texas Tornado

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 4 (AP)—Thousands of airmen and civilians searched on hands and knees today for anything worth saving from the debris left by the towering tornado that crushed through northwest Wichita Falls, killing seven and injuring 113. Civilians poked among broken, sodden homes in two subdivisions—Sunset Terrace and Lincoln Heights. Airmen worked to clean up Sheppard air force base. The tornado, writhing slowly and shifting color from pure white to dirty gray, dropped from a single big storm cloud Friday and marched across the city in stark relief against patches of bright blue sky. Thousands stood in the sunshine in downtown Wichita Falls to watch.

Damage to civilian property was estimated by various disaster officials at about three million dollars. Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman, commanding general of the base, said he had an official estimate of military damage but he would not release it.

"If I say it's a hundred million, they would knock my head off," the general said. "If I say off."

The son of a Twin Falls couple stationed at Sheppard air force base, Wichita Falls, Tex., apparently escaped injury in the tornado.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bixler hadn't heard from their son, Dale Bixler, but he was not listed among the casualties. The younger Bixler, his wife and their four children live in Wichita Falls.

One million, that's all the money I'll get from Washington," an official estimated were that damage to the big base might be around 10 million dollars.

A tour of the base disclosed approximately 50 buildings badly damaged or destroyed and another 100 damaged to some degree. These included the base's main power plant, hangars, a brick chapel, storage warehouses and barracks.

An estimated 240 homes in the subdivisions were damaged or destroyed.

All seven fatalities occurred off the air force base. The base hospital treated and released 60 casualties. Another 13, including some civilians from nearby residential areas, were brought to the hospital.

NEGRO NAMED
WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—President Johnson named Hobart Taylor, Jr., a Detroit Negro attorney, to a top White House advisory job today.

It was announced that the fall convention will be held in Burley, with the date to be announced.

The evening concluded with a banquet and program. The program consisted of musical numbers presented by Mrs. Frances Kambrich and Mrs. Audrey von Lindern, with Jan Rowan as accompanist. A skit was presented by the Buhl club, entitled "Tease Cakes."

Miguel Marks, 60, leader of a Gypsy clan comprising an estimated 1,700 members in this country and Europe, was reportedly having a kidney disorder and high blood pressure.

As Gypsies from all parts of the United States gathered today in Salt Lake City to keep vigil on a stricken kid, hospital officials said his condition remained "critical."

Looney Gets Maximum on Lesser Count

Dickie Leiland Looney, Twin Falls, was given the maximum sentence of one year in the Twin Falls county jail and fined $300 by District Judge Theron Ward Friday for accidental discharge of a firearm aimed at another person.

Looney, originally charged with assault to commit murder in the shooting of James Lee Williamson Sept. 5 near Harmon park, was found guilty of the lesser charge Tuesday by a 12-member jury in district court.

The trial lasted two days and it took the jury six hours to bring in the verdict.

Police reported Looney chased Mrs. Looney and Mrs. Richard Wentworth from the Looney residence and caught up with them as they entered a car driven by Williamson.

Looney pointed a .23 caliber Ruger automatic pistol at the women from the driver's side of the car. As Williamson moved to shield the women the gun was discharged.

In a civil case, Williamson was awarded $6,000 by Judge Lloyd Webb, Bufiley, Thursday for damages in the shooting.

Ex-Residents Are Stabbed By Prowler

Mrs. John Keegan, 45, and her 13-year-old daughter, Teresa, former Twin Falls and Kimberly residents, were stabbed early this morning by a nighttime prowler who broke into their home at Downey, Calif.

Mrs. Keegan and her daughter were described later as seriously wounded but in satisfactory condition at Downey Community hospital.

Mrs. Keegan, the former Arabelle Brown, Twin Falls, was married to John Keegan several years ago and the couple lived south of Kimberly until they moved to Downey about six years ago.

Keegan and her other three children were asleep in the home when the prowler entered. They did not hear anything until after the incident, relatives in Twin Falls report.

Police in Downey said the prowler entered the Keegan home shortly before 2 a.m. and stabbed the daughter several times in the chest.

The girls screamed, awakened the mother, who dashed into the room, saw the intruder and then she turned and began running down the hall. The man chased Mrs. Keegan and stabbed her once in the back, police said.

A man was picked up for questioning about an hour later, police said, but they did not identify him, according to the Associated press.

World Communist Showdown Confab Slated Next Fall

MOSCOW, April 4 (AP)—Tass disclosed today that world communism's showdown meeting about Red China is planned for next fall. This gives plenty of time for all parties to take a position and for Soviet Premier Khrushchev to marshal his strength for the climactic test of strength with Mao Tse-tung. The Tass disclosure came in a dispatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, reporting that the Bulgarian communist party was "shoulder to shoulder" with Moscow in the fight with Peking. The Bulgarians are the only ones to take a public stand except for the Hungarians whom Khrushchev is currently visiting. Most other parties maintained an embarrassed silence.

Not so the Bulgarians. They released a statement of position, which Tass said was taken March 21, saying:

"The plenary meeting of the central committee of the Bulgarian communist party heartily approves and supports the proposal of the Soviet communist party central committee to call this autumn an international meeting of fraternal communist and workers' parties."

"The Soviet press claimed wide support in the clash with Peking."

Articles reporting wide publicity for the statement of the Soviet party position in the debate with China, published Friday, were printed tonight in Izvestia, the government paper, from Warsaw, Rome and Paris, among others.

Published also was a letter from a woman in Bonn assailing Mao Tse-tung, and endorsing Khrushchev—in the first trickle of what doubtless will be a flood of letters from Soviet readers.

Diplomatic and other sources here described the Soviet position, as outlined in the 30,000-word statement of principles published in Pravda, the communist party paper, as essentially defensive.

Every gesture made by the Soviet communist party during the past year has been either ignored or met by new Chinese attacks. And the Chinese are continuing the pattern.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Julian, 427 Third avenue south, received a letter from his sons, Leonard Julian and Dewey Julian, Jr., both of Santa Clara, Calif., telling about their ordeal in a tidal wave after the Alaskan earthquake. They reported they are safe. The sons wrote that they went to Santa Cruz, where Leonard's boat was tied up, to tie it down securely. When they got there they decided to take the boat out into the bay. Just about all the water receded out of the harbor, they said, and another boat was striking the harbor it struck a piece of dredge and sank. Dewey, Jr., heard the calls of the two men who were on the boat and they went over and took them aboard. The letter said there was not too much damage to the harbor.

Study Made on Medic Training

POCATELLO, April 4 (AP)—A two-year study of medical education facilities in Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Nevada suggests that the four states contract for space elsewhere to train their doctors.

It concluded that a joint venture of the four states to build a medical school is feasible, but added that contracting with existing schools in the region might be more realistic.

None of the states can support a medical school on its own, said the report. It estimated costs to construct a school at 25 to 30 million dollars and said annual costs would run from two to four million dollars.

The study, directed by Dr. James M. Faulkner, was conducted by the western interstate commission for higher education under a grant from the Commonwealth fund of New York.

House Gives Lie Detector Test Report

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—A house committee reported today the federal government gamble detector—polygraph—tests is not as accurate as claimed.

Actually the figure is high since the central intelligence agency refused to say how many it gave.

The subcommittee said "serious questions have been raised regarding the reliability of the device and the propriety of its use."

The committee found most of the supposedly scientific tests were administered by military men, some of whom had only the least training and most of whom were required to have only a high school diploma.

Further, the house committee on government operations reported the polygraph was found to be only 72 per cent accurate in judging falsehoods.

All federal courts and many state tribunals refuse to admit results of a polygraph test as evidence.

The preliminary report was prepared for the full committee by the foreign operations subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D. Calif. Rep. William L. Dawson, D. Ill., heads the full committee. Public hearings on the use of the polygraph will begin Tuesday.

Forest Service Reports Public Road Plans

Sunday, April 5, 1964
Twin Falls Times-News 3

SALMON, April 4.—The Lemhi County Sportsmen's association has been informed by the forest service of steps being taken on a proposed public road to Williams lake.

Floyd Iverson, regional forester at Ogden, wrote Frank Kuhlman, association secretary:

"The forest service recognizes, as you do, the value and the need for a public road into Williams lake. Before construction can begin on this road, the engineering must be completed, rights-of-way obtained from the state, the bureau of land management, and two private land owners—and a cooperative program worked out among all interests involved to finance the road construction."

"Last summer when it became evident that several parties were interested in a cooperative program for construction of the road the forest service started a survey to obtain information for design, right-of-way easements, and construction cost estimates."

"Winter weather conditions prevented completion of this survey. The survey will be resumed as soon as weather permits; however, the survey, design, construction cost estimate, and right-of-way acquisition cannot be completed before the spring of 1965."

"Considerable time is required to obtain the rights-of-way across private and state lands, since right-of-way easements must be approved by the attorney general. Still more time will be required if it is necessary to use condemnation procedure to obtain right-of-way."

"A final engineer's estimate of the cost of the Williams lake road cannot be made until the survey and design are completed. This estimate cannot be made public prior to the bid opening of the contract to construct the road."

Measurement of Snow Depth in Wood River Valley Listed

HAILEY, April 4.—William Woody, snow surveyor for the soil conservation service, and James Cook, Sawtooth national forest, completed the Iron mine and Teller ranch snow surveys Thursday.

The April 1 snow pack on most of the courses in the Big and Little Wood river drainages indicates there is an average of 86 per cent as much water content as in 1962. The exception is Cabela's summit, which has the same as in 1962.

Ross Dedman, Carey, said Fish creek reservoir is 60 per cent full, with 8,718 acre-feet in storage and water was entering the reservoir April 1 at the rate of 35.50 cubic-feet-per-second.

Lowell Meacham, Carey, said the Little Wood river reservoir is 75 per cent full with 23,500 acre feet.

On March 28 water was entering Little Wood reservoir at the rate of 25 cubic feet per second. Meacham said the water on Campbell flat had started to move some. The water entering the Little Wood river below the reservoir amounted to 20 cubic feet per second.

Cooperating with the Hailey work unit of the soil conservation service a number of forest service personnel have helped obtain the snow survey information. They are Richard Stauber, Raymond Evans, David Lee, James Cook, Joseph Maillet and Edward Osmund. Gary Woody, Ted McCoy and Alex Stewart also assisted with the snow survey.

Measurements at Galena summit course showed 75 inches of snow with 24.5 inches of water. In 1963 snow depth was 71.3 inches with 10.4 inches of water, and in 1962 snow depth was 73 inches with 24.2 inches of water.

At Horse creek course the depth now is 62 inches with 18.7 inches of water. The 1963 snow depth was 52.7 inches with 14.2 inches of water and in 1962 the snow depth was 60 inches with 19.2 inches of water.

At Red Fish lake there is 35.7 inches of snow with 9.8 inches of water.

At Graham ranch there is 64 inches of snow with 13.2 inches of water as compared to 24.3 inches of snow with 7.2 inches of water last year.

Three Auto Crashes Are Listed in T. F.

Twin Falls police investigated three minor accidents Friday.

Allan R. Whittekind, 17, 482 Jefferson street, was cited for faulty brakes after an accident at Second avenue and Second street west. Officers reported Whittekind was driving a 1951 Ford behind a 1960 Dodge driven by Diana Lou Brownfield, 17, route 3. Miss Brownfield stopped for a traffic light at the intersection and brakes on Whittekind's car failed to work. Damage was set at $300 to the Ford and $75 to the Dodge.

David C. Armstrong, 17, route 3, was attempting a right turn with his 1961 Honda motorcycle into the Lynwood parking lot when it collided with a 1964 Rambler driven by L. G. Lowe, 48, 316 Fillmore street. Officers reported Armstrong had started to make the turn and another vehicle had stopped when Lowe, traveling along the curb, struck Armstrong. Damage was estimated at $30 to the Rambler and $75 to the motorcycle. No citations were issued.

Officers reported a 1962 Ford driven by Walter Towles, 55, Spokane, had started to change lanes on Second avenue west near Eighth street and struck a 1961 Mercury driven by Jerry G. Duffy, 20, Twin Falls. Damage was estimated at $150 to the Mercury. No citations were issued.

No injuries were reported in any of the three accidents.

Forest Ranger Ned Millard left his car at the slide and walked up Rock creek canyon to a point near the Presbyterian cabin. He said this slide was the only one blocking the road, although other slides had reached the edge of the road. Snow in the slide was about four feet deep and covered the road for about 30 feet. Food Dealers to Stimulate Domestic Meat Consumption

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—Support of the Idaho Food Dealers association was pledged today for a program aimed at stimulating consumption of domestic meat and meat products.

But Frank B. Wilson, association executive director, said such a program to be successful must also enroll the packer and meat distributor.

"The position of the Idaho food industry, as far as Idaho beef is concerned, is no different today than it has been in the past," Wilson said. "Our interest is in selling fine Idaho beef to the consuming public."

"Where Idaho beef is available I am certain that the markets are certainly more interested in purchasing it and making it available to their customers."

"In most instances, however, the retail markets have to rely on the packer as to the source of supply."

The Idaho Cattlemen's association recently called attention to a long-forgotten 1921 law affecting labeling of meats. The law requires that any store which sells imported meat must display a sign saying it sells such meat.

Robert Henderlinder, executive secretary of the cattlemen's group, said strict interpretation of the law would require posting of such a sign if the store offered for sale any product containing imported meat. He said many such products now are being sold in Idaho.

The association asked Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard whether

The public is invited.

Tells of Quake

The aftermath of the Alaskan earthquake finds many people who had friends and relatives in the quake area receiving letters.

Jean Pennel, 345 Fourth avenue west, received word from the David Deiler family, Anchorage, whom Miss Pennel has known since 1952 when she lived in Anchorage.

Mrs. Deiler told of the earthquake and how the buildings waved back and forth and how at times she thought "I wonder if the Earth will ever stand still."

MEN WANTED

COEUR D'ALENE, April 4 (AP)—Police in Washington and Idaho Saturday afternoon were looking for two young men who hijacked an elderly Pullman, Wash., man after forcing his car off the highway just south of here.

Coast Primaries Cited as Reason Scranton Not Active

The presidential primaries in California and Oregon by now should bring home one of the reasons Governor Scranton is not an active announced candidate.

Such is the conclusion of Douglas Kramer, chairman of the Scranton Organization of Idaho.

He said, "Two of the announced Republican candidates are attacking each other with such ferocity that many people wonder who the real opponent is. Governor Scranton and his supporters believe in the Republican party and do not want to engage in any campaign which will permit the Democrats to divide and conquer."

"It would be most difficult for the Republican party to select any of the candidates who are either personally or through well-oiled machines attempting to win primaries. This is par-

King Hill Taxpayers to Vote On School Bond Tuesday

KING HILL, April 4 — Lee Trail, chairman of the King Hill school board, said about 72 per cent of the cost of the bond will be paid by taxpayers in the school district to pass the issue. Bugg said each taxpayer would pay about 95 cents per $100 valuation.

Trail said the board has approved an option to purchase land from Floyd Wise, Glennis Ferry, for the new school building. The land is located north of Glennis Ferry.

Polling places for the bond election Tuesday are located at the King Hill school lunchroom, Hammett school lunchroom, Donald Pancoast home at Indian Cove, and voters in the Rye Grass section and Pasadena valley district can vote at St. Bridget's hall at Glennis Ferry.

Bugg said election polls will be open from 1 to 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The proposed building project consists of a 16-room elementary school building, 12-room high school, gymnasium, industrial arts shop, music room, elementary library, high school library, kitchen and cafeteria.

Bugg said the total is covered by an $800,000 bond issue. Bugg

TIMES-NEWS PUBLIC FORUM

Reader Says People Being Misled by Civil Rights Bill

Editor, Times-News:

A large percentage of well-meaning people are being misled by the so-called civil rights bill. The proponents are stressing two points—racial discrimination and equality.

A public forum writer stated in the March 29 issue of the Times-News, "Every one should, of course, express his own conviction about this and other legislation."

The writer goes on pleading for the reader's candid opinion and as the writer says, not copy Southern papers. We will comply by confining ourselves to Magic Valley.

My opposition to the civil rights bill embodies integration. That is stepping stones to mongrelization.

Now I will have a Magic Valley farmer tell his story.

As soon as I got the sum of the tariff and the civil rights bill, my wife and I cashed in, sold our farm machinery and livestock and invested our money in a corporation that is largely Idaho.

Then I took a job on a farm by the month. My employer was of the same opinion of the present situation as myself. He curtailed his farming operation drastically, disposed of three-fourths of his livestock, replaced me and two men he had formerly employed.

There are men employed in this vicinity.

Talk about the underprivileged denied equal rights and so on, these so called underprivileged can rent a vacant building on help and go to it.

They can also rent plenty of farms (as I have done and can do) and put me to putting in my time and dig up money for my unemployment.

After listening to the farmer's story, a civil rights supporter said, "If they try that we will have the government take things over."

The answer to that last statement is walk through the graveyard of time and read the epiphany of Rome, Sparta, Persia, Babylon and ancient Egypt, then listen to the voice of the dead.

Twin Falls Reader Objects To Stand of Idaho Power

Editor, Times-News:

Yes, the government owns a lot of property—all the capitol buildings at Washington, D. C.; all the postoffices, many roads, the Panama canal and many rivers, harbors, lighthouses, etc.

And it should own all power rights and powerhouses. And these should pay no taxes because all these things are for the benefit of all the people of the United States, not just Idaho Power company.

The government also owns the army, the navy, and the air force and the expenses of all these things. That's why it needs tax money. The government takes in taxes. It is not supposed to pay out taxes for Idaho Power or anyone else, or to set you up in business.

Does Idaho Power rethink all readers of the Times-News are idiots? I seriously doubt if anyone is so naive that they fall for any of Idaho Power's articles or advertisements.

It looks like the main object of the articles is to mislead, or brainwash, a few people of low intelligence. Taxes are based on income. Lower your power bills, Idaho Power, and you automatically lower your taxes. A lot of people pay taxes, all based on income, and we don't print hateful things about our government.

Maybe you want to control all law both state and federal? Make all the money, pay no taxes and if war comes have them do all the fighting and our boys lose their lives while you sit and count your profits?

Well, here is news for you, I don't believe you will ever control the federal government, maybe that's why you don't like them?

Worry Is Expressed Over Apathy Toward Injustices

Editor, Times-News:

One day last week the Twin Falls Times-News carried a story of brutality and torture of a prisoner in the state prison at Boise. Only slightly less savage than that of the Nazi death camps.

Many people must have read the account—thousands of good citizens, church people, members of service clubs. Did anyone feel responsible? Will anyone make a move to investigate or protest? Probably not.

Just now there is much concern with "mental illness" in Magic Valley and many people are wondering just what the words mean.

In his column last week, Vardis Fisher beamed some light on this puzzling matter. He recalled the murder trial in California where a woman wanted her daughter-in-law killed and was willing to pay good money to have it done.

She approached eight different persons with her proposition before the murder was carried out.

Now, many people are able to see that the woman who planned the killing was "mentally ill"; but Vardis Fisher wants to know about the eight who kept still and gave no warning of the impending crime? How healthy are such as they?

How healthy are members of the bar association, of ministerial associations, of clubs and lodges who read of savage brutality and miscarriage of justice in their own state, and who go on about their affairs, never lifting a finger or a voice in protest?

Is such behavior any different than that of the "herrenvolk" who lived within sight of Auschwitz or sold supplies to the death camps?

Think it over.

Plan to Solve Problem of Poverty on Potomac Lauded

Editor, Times-News:

To help solve the poverty problem on the Potomac, by J. R. Douglas, was perhaps a very good scheme to dole out commodities to the congressmen instead of the cash.

The president didn't mention that distressed area in his speech. I had worked hard on formulating a plan. I thought of leading a glamorized national drive of some sort, so that even mothers would break into the children's piggy banks to help out, but I changed my mind after reading Mr. Tully's article in the Times-News on March 20.

Mr. Tully stated, "For most members of congress a pay raise would be a good thing. In addition to offering more security, it would be good for their ethics. That is, with more honest dough coming in every month the congressman would not be tempted to stoop to petty graft and influence peddling to pay his bills."

My quote, "Shades of night, have they been receiving dishonest dough? Must we make it profitable to them for their misdeeds by raising their salaries $10,000? Lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

Rights Legislation Called "Uncivilized Wrong Bill"

Editor, Times-News:

Why don't we call it by its right name—uncivilized wrong bill. The colored man is being pushed to believe that his rights are being protected, when through this thing called the civil rights bill he, along with the white man, is losing his rights.

If and when the rotten thing is passed and legislated into law, where have we gone? Communism?

We are losing our God-given heritage every day, and if we sit idly by and allow this civil rights bill to be pushed down our throats, we have given these very people who have been born and reared in this glorious old land of liberty the green light to take freedom of press, freedom of speech, and will be denying us the privilege of worshipping God as we have been taught.

Let's all wake up and say no in one voice to this monster of our dear country and not see our liberties go down the drain as they are sure to do if this corruptible thing is passed.

News Around Idaho

MOUNTAIN HOME, April 4 (AP)—Reaction of military and civilian personnel was tested yesterday in a 12-hour simulated nuclear bombing attack on Mountain Home Air Force Base. Aircraft at the strategic air command base were prepared for takeoff after a siren signalled a probable attack. Observing umpires said the crewmen would have had time to get their planes into the air if it had been the real thing. Col. Lawrence F. McGuire, chief umpire, described the alert as effective and beneficial.

FOCATELLO, April 4 (AP)—Complete release of information to the press was urged today by Blackford Mayor Lewis Haller during the Idaho Municipal League school for elected officials at Idaho State university. "The people have a right to know what you are planning and what you are doing," Mayor Haller told 35 delegates to the school. "The news media is your only certain line of communications. Keep that line open," he added.

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—Brian Hemman, Boise, was named student of the year yesterday at the seventh Idaho Distributive Education conference today. Winners were Shelley Forge, Lewiston, girl's interview; Ann Stout, Burley, sales demonstration; Judy Donohoe, Boise, advertising layout; John Hansen, Idaho Falls, boy's job interview; Nephi Voge, Idaho Falls, merchandise manuals, and Bill Bollinger, Focatello, window display judging.

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—Members of the Idaho State Student Nurses association chose Claudia Shaw of the St. Alphonsus hospital nursing school, Boise, as their new president today at the group's annual convention. Miss Shaw succeeds Judy Okamura of Ricks college, Rexburg. More than 100 students from Idaho's four nursing schools attended the session, which ended with the announcement of the state's outstanding student nurse of the year.

IDAHO FALLS, April 4 (AP)—The chairman of Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie's 31-member committee to study the water situation in the Gem state said today that the group is making "real progress." William E. Holden, prominent Idaho Falls attorney and appointed earlier this year to head up the study group, said progress has been made in investigating various legal problems involved in strengthening Idaho's water rights.

FOCATELLO, April 4 (AP)—The prosecution completed its case yesterday in the preliminary hearing for John Dee Larsen, 21, and it was continued to Monday. Attorney John R. Black called Sheriff H. E. Parker as the first defense witness for Larsen, charged with first degree murder in the 1962 slaying of 16-year-old Vicki Jo Quinn. Justice of the Peace Callis Caldwell denied Black's motion to dismiss the charge.

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—Idaho ranks sixth among the 50 states in percentage of people who have completed high school and first in percentage with at least an eighth grade education, 80 per cent. The department of commerce and development said a magazine report shows the state also ranks high in percentage of college graduates, ahead of such industrialized states as Ohio and Pennsylvania and even with Illinois. The figures also show Idaho has a relatively young population.

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—A $150,000 lawsuit against the city of Kellogg, the McKiser company of Osborne and a woman and her father has been settled and dismissed in U.S. district court. Mr. and Mrs. Regan, Seattle, claimed their son, Pat, 16, was forced to walk in the street because of a remodeling project on the Kellogg city hall in 1962. They said he was hit by a car driven by Elaine R. Taylor and owned by Ray O. Taylor.

REXBURG, April 4 (AP)—Brenda Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rice, Sugar City, was crowned Miss Ricks college at the Duquesne formal Friday night on the college campus. The pageant and formal dance were sponsored by the Norsemen Knights. Judging was based on scholastic ability, personality, dancing ability, cooking, talent and modeling.

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—The first degree murder trial of George LeRoy Stednitz, 20, in the Nov. 16 church service slaying of Raymond E. Carroll opens Monday in U.S. district court. The government lists 21 witnesses it plans to call, including Mrs. Kathryn Mae Carroll, the dead man's mother, and a number of people who were present at the services. Carroll was shot down by a rifle-carrying assailant while the service in the Veterans administration hospital chapel, was being piped in to the patients.

BOISE, April 4 (AP)—A national labor relations board examiner recommended today that Kellogg Mills, Inc., Kellogg, be declared guilty of unfair labor practice. Examiner David F. Doyle said evidence he received at a hearing in Boise Nov. 26, 1963, indicated the company had refused to bargain collectively with the American Federation of Grain Millers, agents for the firms employees. Doyle recommended that Kellogg Mills be ordered to bargain with the union as representatives of its employees.

Observance Planned Here For National Library Week

With the theme of "Reading is the Key," the Twin Falls public library is preparing to take an active part in observance of National Library Week, April 12-18.

Special displays will be arranged in both the main library and the children's room, and some 150 new books will be put into circulation during the week.

One of the main projects connected with library week is the annual essay contest for all twin Falls county school children. The contest got under way last month and the deadline for submitting entries is April 8. Winners will be announced during library week.

The contest is divided into three divisions—grades 4-6, grades 7-9 and grades 10-12. Each school will submit its two best entries in each category for final judging.

Entries of county winners will be sent to the state library for state competition. Last year Nancy Miller, Kimberly, was a state winner.

Subject of the essay must be "Reading is the Key—to Understanding, to Opportunity, to New Worlds," and the essay shall not exceed 500 words.

Another observance of National Library week will be display of 12 billboard signs throughout Magic Valley on the "Reading is the Key" theme. Cosgriff Sign company is donating billboard space and will put up the displays.

Helen M. Miller, Boise, state librarian, will speak at the Kiwanis club luncheon April 16. Special bookmarks will be distributed free at the library during the week.

Mrs. Alice Haynes, Twin Falls librarian, reports that the Library Art Guild has donated $106.52, proceeds from a program in the children's section of the library.

Mrs. Haynes also noted that a record number of 12,307 books were distributed through the library last month. This was more than 2,000 more than distributed during March, 1963, and more than in any month in at least the last eight years.

Straw Destroyed By Rural Fire

A fire about 5:30 p.m. Friday destroyed 50 to 75 tons of straw on the Harrison Griffith farm, three-fourths of a mile west of South Park.

The Kimberly rural volunteer fire department was summoned, but by the time four firemen arrived the straw was nearly destroyed. An auxiliary pump was left at the farm for use in case the fire should break out again.

Volunteers who helped bring the blaze under control were Clifford Staley, Tim Staley, Ward Webster and Lewis Porter.

"What's cooking in the American family is atew," homemakers from eight Magic Valley counties were told at the South Central District Home Demonstration council meeting.

Highlight of the day-long convalesce at the Methodist church was a talk by the Rev. Robert Burchell, pastor of the Buhl Baptist church, on the subject, "What's cooking in the American family." He pointed out old patterns of family living are giving way to new.

"In the midst of this changing world the family has undergone revolutionary changes. The beef in the stew is the man," he said. "His world has been a rapidly changing world and his place in the home has radically changed."

"The tomato in the stew is the woman," he continued, "and her world has undergone a radical change also. She has a greater educational opportunity than any of her 'foremothers' and because of the potentials in her life, home sometimes feels as if it is a restriction."

The Rev. Mr. Burchell stated that the new potatoes in the stew are the young people of the 20th century.

"Given more freedom than any young people in any age, they find this freedom difficult to handle." The Rev. Mr. Burchell concluded his talk by saying, "Our hope for the American family is of course, optimistic. The outcome of this new family of the 20th century will be for new cuts of beef, wonderful variety of potatoes and hope for those new potatoes. If we season the stew well and serve it hot we will find family living in the 20th century tremendously exciting."

A full day of events was scheduled with a rewarding and inspirational day expressed by those in attendance. The registration, which began at 9 a.m., showed approximately 175 women from the various Home Demonstration clubs attending. An informal get-acquainted coffee hour was held from 9 to 10 a.m.

The business meeting was conducted from 10 a.m. to noon. Mrs. Heber Loughmiller gave the pledge of allegiance and Mrs. H. A. Childers, district director, gave the welcome. The response was given by Mrs. Adolph Heinrich, state president.

Mrs. Clinton Dougherty, state safety chairman, gave an appropriate talk on the national safety council meeting she attended in Athens, Ga. Each county council president shared her ideas on forthcoming events and gave a review of the year's activities in her country.

Luncheon was served at noon by women of the Methodist church. Tables were elaborately decorated with nests of green grass and Easter eggs and current fashion pictures depicting the Modern Mrs. Home Demonstration club fashion show presented following the luncheon.

The musical portion of the program was presented by Mrs. David Mead, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Youtz. Mrs. Mead sang "I Feel Pretty," "The Doll Dance" and a medley of songs from "Brigadoon."

Shirley Haslam, winner of the Home Demonstration district essay contest, spoke on "What home demonstration means to me."

Deer Sausage Presidential Style Related

WASHINGTON, April 4 (NEA).—Deer sausage, Presidential style, is a new item on our national menu. Gourmets and psychologists scent political significance.

They point out that a deer covers many miles a day, can climb the side of a mountain in a few minutes and develops hard muscles. The meat is tough and lean.

But the deer sausage served at the Johnson ranch near Fredericksburg, Tex., is not all tough nor all lean. It has a smoother side, too. Because deer meat has no fat, the sweet fat of pork in equal amounts goes into the now historic sausages.

The White House gave us the recipe for 200 pounds. It starts: "Take one-half deer and one-half hog." The official seasoning lacks French subtlety. Black and red pepper and sage are the insistent spices. Salt, like sagacity, is freely used.

The President prides himself on his traditional Texas cooking. No modern short cuts for him. It takes three days to make the sausage. The meats are mixed together outdoors and cooked in big galvanized tubs. Some Republican observers of the rite report the smell is horrible. This might be no more than bias.

Our White House recipe is a bit sketchy. Like many chefs, French or political, LBJ may not divulge all his secrets.

Therefore, your gastronomical sleuth, consulted a deer-sausage neighbor of the LBJ ranch.

"I'm sure the Johnson ranch does it the same way all old-timers do. He's a stickler for authenticity," he said.

It must be done outdoors. Combine the venison and pork and season highly. Grind together, using first a coarse chili grind, then a fine grind.

"We used to use the pork intestines for casings. But today a lot of people buy casings from a packing house," he continued. It is then smoked by hanging in the smokehouse. Or it can be packed like fresh sausage and frozen. If you freeze it, there will always be some on hand when visitors you want to impress arrive unexpectedly."

Up to 25 years ago Texans used venison sausage almost exclusively, he commented. However, many Texans now substitute pork sausage processed by packing houses for deer. But not LBJ.

Like the President, the new First Lady often hankers for a nostalgic taste of Texas cooking. Visitors to their ranch understand why. Lady Bird's rich chocolate cake with coconut-pecan frosting is an old recipe used in the Texas German colony in 1846. Even visiting German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, no mean trencherman, asked for seconds and pronounced it "wunderbar."

There may be election year significance in hearty deer sausage and "wunderbar" chocolate cake. If so, the pollsters will soon report. In the meantime, let's follow the advice of Marie Antoinette (no deer sausage fan) and eat cake.

Lady Bird Johnson's German Chocolate Cake
1 package sweet chocolate
1 cup boiling water
1 cup butter or margarine
2 cups sugar
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup buttermilk
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Coconut-pecan filling and frosting

Melt chocolate in one-half cup of boiling water. Cool. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating after each. Add vanilla and melted chocolate and mix until blended. Sift flour with soda and salt. Add sifted dry ingredients to chocolate mixture alternately with buttermilk, beating after each addition until batter is smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Pour batter into three 8- or 9-inch round layer pans, lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 F.) for 35 to 40 minutes for 8-inch layers or 30 to 35 minutes for 9-inch layers.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL LESNESKI

Berdell Branch Is Bride of Paul Lesneski

WENDELL, April 4—Berdell Branch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Branch, Wendell, and Paul Lesneski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lesneski, Port Pierce, Fla., were united in marriage March 28 at the Wendell Methodist church.

The Rev. Austin G. Rugger performed the double ring ceremony before an altar backed with white gladioli. Candlelighters were Cathy Gilbert and Deborah Gilbert, Wendell, nieces of the bride. They were attired in blue sateen dresses with overskirts of lace.

Mrs. Henry J. Barton played the traditional wedding music. Trisa Murray, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Faeth Eaton. Judy Ewert, soloist, was accompanied by Susan Orth.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of nylon organdy over taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a bateau neckline and lily point sleeves. The bouffant skirt featured a full-length front panel enhanced with satin leaves appliqued with seed pearls. Her elbow-length veil of sheer illusion was held by a tiara of pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of pink roses entwined and tied with blue satin streamers on a white Job's Daughter Bible.

As tokens of sentiment, she or until cake springs back when lightly pressed. Cool. (This delicate cake will have a flat contour and a slightly sugary top crust which tends to crack.) Frost top and between layers with coconut-pecan filling and frosting for 3-layer cake.

NOTE: Cake may also be baked in two 8-by-8-by-2-inch square pans lined on bottoms with paper, for 45 to 50 minutes, or two 9-by-9-by-2-inch square pans lined on bottoms with paper, for 40 to 45 minutes.

FROSTING RECIPES
Combine one cup evaporated milk, one cup sugar, three egg yolks slightly beaten, one-quarter pound butter or margarine, and one teaspoon vanilla in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat 12 minutes, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add about one and one-third cups flake coconut and one cup chopped pecans. Beat until cool and of spreading consistency. Makes two and two-thirds cups, or enough to cover tops of three 8- or 9-inch layers.

Today's Woman Seeks Youth With Cosmetics

WASHINGTON, April 4 (UPI)—Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D., Mo., said today the woman who seeks the fountain of youth at a cosmetics counter may be risking her health to appease her vanity.

She urged a drastic overhaul of the federal cosmetic laws to give the nation's ladies more protection.

Mrs. Sullivan said in a UPI interview that under present statutes, manufacturers can market lipsticks that blister, hair sprays that are flammable, and hair coloring that could leave a woman bald.

The Missouri Democrat is chairman of the house consumer affairs subcommittee. She said congress should approve a bill requiring manufacturers to list on the container the ingredients of their product.

She also said they should be required to prove a product is harmless. She said that the burden of proof is now on the government which must show that a certain cosmetic is harmful before it can be taken off the market.

Mrs. Sullivan, who is in her 50's, emphasized that she is not anti-cosmetic. In fact, she said, she uses female make-up. "Every woman needs and wants and must have cosmetics," she said. "But she shouldn't have to be anybody's guinea pig."

She said a labeling law was especially needed to show a woman just what she is putting on her face or in her hair when she sits in front of her mirror. She added that this would protect consumers with allergies.

"Take the case of lipstick," Mrs. Sullivan said. "The government requires color tolerance tests but no test for other ingredients. If a woman was allergic to a certain chemical in a lipstick, she wouldn't know it was in the lipstick until her lips became blistered."

She also said that certain chemicals in hair coloring could cause a woman to lose all of her hair, if she was allergic to them. The Missouri congresswoman worked up a little gimmick for dramatizing this point. She developed her own beauty facial pack called, "Sullivan's mud."

Its unique quality: Sullivan's mud has a label showing exactly what's in it. The ingredients are bentonite, glycerin, witch hazel extract, alcohol and water, food color and perfume.

Mrs. Sullivan carts her mud along on speaking engagements as a visual aid to show just what she is striving for.

N.Y. Writer Lists Tips for Saleswomen

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK, April 4 (AP) — When you approach the customer, say, "Can I help you, don't" or "Watcha need, dearie?"

If the customer says she is just looking, don't leave her alone for a moment.

When a customer is trying to make up her mind about an item, don't give her a chance to think. Talk continuously.

If the customer asks for your opinion, always tell her she looks too fat or too thin, depending on her weight.

If a customer wants to return something, always argue or refer her to someone else who is out to lunch. While she's looking for the someone else, scoot, fast as you can.

These "tips" for saleswomen in dress departments are part of a feature formula cited in the current issue of "Texas Fashions," a trade journal published by the Texas Fashion Creators association.

The report — "How NOT to succeed by really trying."

—Aims, of course, to help sales personnel in ready-to-wear goods departments to hone up on better procedures than the ones described.

"This article," the association said, "is designed for those store owners who have too many customers and wish to eliminate them."

Just distribute this sample list of rules to your sales force. If they adhere to them and your customers are guaranteed to disappear in droves.

All of the rules use the "reverse psychology" to touch on pet gripes of customers.

Among other things, it is suggested that sales personnel flatter the customer by saying that everything (no matter how it looks on her) is "just darling, honey" and "was just made for you." Customers are stupid and don't know what's right for them anyway.

Other tips in the feature formula include the following:

—Don't wear dress shoes if you have to stand all day. Scuffs are comfortable. House shoes are even better.

—Try to help as many customers at a time as you can, maybe three or four. Just put each in a separate dressing room and go from one to the other, never staying more than a minute or two with each.

—Chew gum. If you want to smoke, go ahead. Chomp a candy bar if you're feeling hungry.

—If you don't have the size or color the customer wants, never go to the stock room and look for it. Just say you don't have it. Better still, say they don't make it anymore.

—If you get a phone call, always let the customer wait while you discuss all your personal business. And when you are talking to a friend in the store, don't interrupt your conversation to wait on a customer.

—And, above all, always be

can be made to take on a lighter, brighter character without always having to repaint your walls in a lighter color, changing curtains or furnishings.

You can, for one, do it with mirrors. Try placing a large mirror on a dark wall. It will not only dramatize the wall and prove highly decorative, but the mirror will catch and reflect whatever light is in the room, brightening that dark area.

You can also do much to transform the gloomy room with lamps. Inadequate, insufficient or poorly placed lamps are a common decorating fault. The pole lamp, a popular trend in recent years, is very useful here. By judicious placement of the lights on the pole, you can brighten a ceiling, spotlight a painting, highlight your upholstery—all three tasks in one.

If you are choosing furniture for a dark room or area in a room, avoid very heavy, massive pieces, and dark colors in fabrics. Open arms might also be desirable here.

Acting Leader Directs Meet Of Chamber

Willard Rees, first vice president of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, conducted the first board meeting Friday since W. W. Clark, past president, moved to El Paso, Tex.

Rees will be acting president, with title of first vice president, until June 30 when six new directors will be elected and the 12-member board elects officers.

Edward Benoit, reviewed developments in connection with the downtown study unit and stated that a consulting firm from Seattle will make a presentation Monday to the study committee and representatives of the various appointed committees. There will be no cost or obligation.

The board also authorized and approved the transfer of five acres of land from the industrial park to the Twin Falls Industrial Development corporation. The land will be used by Beryl Lemmon, owner of the Idaho Alfalfa Products company, which is building a new plant in Twin Falls.

Directors also discussed and authorized acting President Rees to appoint a committee to analyze the committee structure of the chamber and to make recommendations to the board at the next meeting. It is hoped the program of work and committee structure for the 1964-65 chamber year can be implemented in the near future.

Authorization also was given to borrow necessary funds for operating expenses to the end of the current fiscal year, June 30.

John Hahn was named highway committee chairman and Charles Glasby, vice chairman, and results of the first organizational meeting were discussed. The purpose of the reorganized highway committee is to work closely with city administration and the engineering department in formulation of long range highway needs.

Shoshone Has No Flood Dangers

SHOSHONE, April 4—By Friday afternoon there was no danger of flooding in this area, personnel at the Big Wood river canal company reported. Little Wood river has not risen and what ice is on the river is well broken up so water can flow through freely.

The Dietrich vicinity was checked Friday morning and reported in "fine" shape. The snow seems to just be melting and running into the ground.

The only question now is whether Magic reservoirs will get enough runoff from the upper country to fill and provide irrigating water for this area this summer. To date Magic has only 116,500 acre feet of water. Content is 191,500 acre feet and the content has increased only slightly in the past several weeks.

CONSTRUCTION WORK has started on a new parish hall for St. Edward's Catholic church at Seventh avenue and Second street east. The building also will be used as a recreation hall for Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. (Times-News photo)

The Twin Falls Toastmistress club used the theme, "Always something to learn or re-learn" for its Friday morning meeting.

Mrs. Kenneth Shew, toastmistress, introduced Mrs. F. J. Nielsen, who gave an impromptu speech on "The bill of rights." Mrs. George Bever, who spoke of "The electoral college," and Mrs. LeRoy Arrington, "Better and greater speech."

Mrs. Hugh Boone combined the lexicology study and table topics into reading excerpts from great speeches and then identifying the famous person who gave the speech.

Parliamentary procedure was directed by Mrs. Elson Bakom and involved the use of the "previous question."

Mrs. Nielsen gave the invocation. Mrs. Carl Hoffmaster was introduced as a guest. It was announced that Mrs. Arrington would be the club's contestant in the council nine speech contest. Mrs. Carl Grabert served as general evaluator.

The next meeting will be April 17 and toastmistress will be Mrs. Grabert.

The hall is being constructed by Ullman Construction company. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edmund R. Cody says some rooms will be in the basement and the building will measure about 140 feet long and 100 feet wide.

Tuttle Gets News About Earthquake

TUTTLE, April 4—Little damage was done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gilmore at Anchorage, Alaska, from last Friday's earthquake. A letter was received from the couple on Wednesday by Mrs. Gilmore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis, Tuttle.

Word had been received previously that Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore and their four sons and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Condit who ranched at Tuttle before going to Alaska, were not injured. According to the letter the small sons of the Gilmores were terribly frightened by the tremors. Gilmore was at work and it took him 45 minutes to get to his home on the edge of the city to find out if his family was safe. He is a postal carrier so is continuing to work but reports many people are out of work and homeless.

Nearly all of the apartment buildings are in ruins and those left standing after the quake are being pulled down because of damage, the Gilmores wrote. The Gilmores had very little trouble from heat or electricity failure but Mr. and Mrs. Condit have been living in their camper because of power failure and broken pipes. Mrs. Gilmore said she was very dizzy during the worst quake and the Condit who went out into the snow were unable to stand up because of the rolling earth.

Big Dog Causes Strain; Suit Filed

Wynn Allee filed suit in district court Friday against D. M. Powell, 1404 Kimberly road, asking $28,425.75 in damages for injuries received on April 5, 1963, when she was trying to help Powell move a large dog from a room in the Powell house to the back yard. Miss Allee claims she was visiting Powell April 5 when a large 14-year-old Labrador at the Powell place became sick. She claims that while moving the dog from the house to the back yard, a distance of about 20 feet, she felt a sharp pain in her back and, after putting the dog down, was unable to stand erect. Since that time she has required hospital care.

Small Gains Reported for Most Grains

CHICAGO, April 4 (AP)—Soybean and wheat futures ended with generally posted small gains on the Chicago board of trade.

Compared to last Friday, wheat was off 1/4 to 1/2 cents a bushel, corn up 1/4 to 1/2, and soybeans up 1/4 to 1/2.

Old crop soybeans slid more than 3 cents and led most other contracts downward. Crushings continued poor along with weak demand for meal and oil. Crushings and exports for the first five months of the season were 14,000 bushels below a year ago.

The government Friday hiked its soybean estimate to 35,000,000 from a February forecast of 34,000,000.

Reports from the Southwest of strong cash demand and active export and belief that carryover will plus this season will be red wheat this season will be brought buying to May.

Wheat prices firmed.

New crop wheat lost fractions on heavy redemptions of 1963 crop wheat from government loan on the deadline day, favorable crop news and word that the commodity credit corporation may sell some wheat in trade channels. Prospects for the passage of the farm bill, containing the wheat certification plan, were bright Monday but faded as the week wore on.

Wheat backed on slight gains on export covering and export and elevator house buying despite heavy moisture over the corn belt. Expectations that the government is next report will indicate large feed grain stocks on farms. Sign-ups by farmers for feed grain acreage diversion hit a record high.

Outs firmed with corn on elevator buying. Rye rose more than 1 cent as scattered buying met limited demand.

Past Week's Business Upturn Longest in Peacetime History

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—The business upturn reached the ripe old age of 38 months this week. That made it the longest business expansion in peacetime.

Some economists felt it was getting deeper.

Others contended it is still robust and has a considerably longer life ahead.

Majority opinion tended toward the belief that things look good for the months ahead.

Mr. R. Gainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Conference board, expressed this opinion:

"Because there are none of the familiar signs of economic strain, I would say the top of this expansion isn't even in sight yet, especially considering the stimulating effect of the recent tax reduction."

The Chase Manhattan Bank of New York said:

"The odds are high that the economy will be operating at, or quite close to practical capacity later this year. This is likely to be true even with moderation in consumer markets, capital expenditure and inventories."

At present, the upswing isn't hampered by the usual signs of an expansion's demise. Inventories aren't excessive, loans are not difficult to obtain and prices are relatively stable.

This is despite the fact that the upturn well exceeds the 30-month average for all 26 previous U.S. business expansions since records were first kept in 1864.

It is being carried along by corporations' high sales and earnings, particularly in the automobile and steel industries, and heavy investment in new plant and equipment.

On the strength of this, the stock market has reached successive new highs, adding to the optimism.

American Telephone and Telegraph company, and Sears, Roebuck and company, among others, supplied evidence this week the business is moving along at a high level.

AT and T reported record earnings of $397,819,000 or $1.58 a share, for the three months ended Feb. 29, compared with $358,558,000, or $1.43 a share, a year earlier. Sales rose to $2,474,815,000 from $2,295,271,000 a year earlier.

Sears' sales for the year ended Jan. 31 totaled 5.1 billion dollars, crossing the 5-billion mark for the first time. The big mail-order chain earned 261 million dollars, or $3.44 a share, against 234.6 million dollars, or $3.10 a share, in the previous year.

Consumers got a little good news when the cost of living declined in March for the first time since December, 1961. It was just a little drop—one-tenth of one per cent—and the bureau of labor statistics predicted a resumption of the rise this month.

The census bureau reported that manufacturers' new orders and shipments in February declined slightly from record levels in January.

Steel production climbed last week to the highest level since last June 22, totaling 2,408,000 tons, up 1.9 per cent from the previous week. Signs of a leveling off in steel demand appeared, however. Indications were that shipments will fall in May and June and rebound in July.

Stock Market Scores Two New Highs

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—The stock market came down with a case of the post-holiday blues early this week but recovered sufficiently to score two sets of new highs before the final session.

Prices churned narrowly mixed Monday and the only bright spots in the list were tobacco and airline shares. The picture turned darker Tuesday and prices dropped some.

A late rally on Wednesday set the stage for an even better advance on Thursday when prices rose sharply to record highs in both Dow-Jones industrial and rail averages and Standard and Poor's 500 stock index. Trading on Thursday hit 6,840,000 shares—the heaviest volume since last Nov. 26, the first trading day after the assassination of President Kennedy.

Dow-Jones industrial average climbed 7.08 to a new record high of 822.99, while rails advanced 3.30 to 195.48, also a new record high. Standard and Poor's 500 stock index also scored a new high of 79.94 on a gain of 0.75.

Trading totaled 29,689,310 shares compared with the 21,334,084 shares in the prior holiday week and 25,611,104 shares in the same week last year. Of the 1,511 issues traded, 803 advanced, 314 to new 1964 highs while 557 declined, 120 to new lows.

Studebaker topped the market in activity, rising 1 1/2 to 38 1/2 on a turnover of 375,300 shares. The activity in the issue stemmed from a statement by the company president in which he said first quarter earnings would approximate one million dollars compared with a net loss of 6.4 million dollars a year earlier.

Tobacco shares continued to improve on reports of rising cigarette sales. Philip Morris gained 5 1/2, American Tobacco and Lorillard 3 1/2 and Liggett and Meyers 3 1/2.

Western air lines shot up 8 points, Braniff 2 1/2, National 4 1/2 and Trans World 2 1/2. Delta backedtracked 3 1/2. Coca-Cola jumped 6 and Royal Crown Cola advanced 5.

Sets Record

TEMPE, Ariz., April 4 (AP)—Arizona State University's Henry Carr bettered his own world record for the 220 yard dash around a curve tonight. Carr's time was 20.2.

His listed world standard is 20.3. Carr's amazing showing came in a dual meet between the Sun Devils and the powerful Southern California Striders.

Second was the Striders' Adolph Plummer. The former University of New Mexico performer, a world record holder himself in the 440 yard dash, was timed at 20.8.

Plummer was slow out of the blocks but made up for it at the end of the curve.

NBA Playoffs To Resume Sunday

By The Associated Press The national Basketball association's semifinal playoffs will be resumed Sunday at St. Louis and Cincinnati with the San Francisco Warriors back in the picture and the Boston Celtics attempting to make it a rout.

After viewing films of their opening game loss—a so-called "horror" film—the Warriors bounced back Friday night with a 120-85 victory over the St. Louis Hawks which tied the best-of-7 game series at 1-1.

The defending champion Boston Celtics are 2-0 over the Cincinnati Royals and need only two more victories to go into the finals.

Coach Alex Hannum sat his Warriors in a club house studio and made them watch in agony the first game in which they blew two 20-point leads in losing to St. Louis 116-111.

Chagrined at the exhibition, the San Francisco team went out and crushed the Hawks in the second game at the San Francisco Cow Palace.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 28 points and Guy Rodgers 21 for the Warriors.

"Rodgers was terrific coming up with loose balls and triggering the fast break," Hannum said. The coach also praised his team's defense.

The Celtics are bubbling with confidence in their one-sided series with the Royals after their fastest playoff start in six years.

Frank Ramsey, the Celtics' captain, said a four-game sweep odds were 1,000 to 1 against Boston losing the series.

No team has ever come back from a 0-2 deficit to win a seven-game playoff.

Feature of Boston's success so far has been the work of K. C. Jones, who has held Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's most valuable player to 15 field goals in the first two games.

Kidd, Allen Win Top Spot In Cup Races

ASPEN, Colo., April 4 (AP)—Olympian Bill Kidd scored an easy victory and 19-year-old Indy Allen had a close but impressive one today in the slalom competition of the annual Roeh and Bingham cup ski races.

Kidd, Stowe, Vt., awed the spectators by taking his two slalom runs in 1:54.3 to beat the runner-up Swiss star Stephan Knecht, Elsdorf, by 3.4 seconds.

Miss Allen, Mammoth Mountain, Calif., added the slalom victory to her first place in Friday's giant slalom by defeating Pia Riva, Milan, Italy. The winning time of 2:12.7 was only 3 seconds ahead of Miss Riva's.

In these races, the prize is the combined championship. Performances in the first two races and in Sunday's giant slalom will count toward the trophies—the Roeh cup for men and the Bingham cup for women.

Miss Allen, with her two victories, appears to have an excellent chance for the combined title if she does well Sunday. She has impressed skiing experts by beating some top international competition, including the champions and Miss Riva in these races. Miss Allen was not on the Olympic team.

McCLUSKY LEADS BRUINS TO TRACK WIN

Blackfoot Jumper Clears 6 Feet, 2 Inches; Gough Doubles up in Sprints

The Twin Falls Bruins went without four lettermen but Bobby McClusky came off a two-year, injury-forced vacation to lead his team to victory in a track meet Saturday. Although McClusky was not the big point winner of the day, his performance sparked the Bruins and helped ease a Bruin question mark in the low hurdles. He won the low in 21 flat, after going 20.5 in the preliminaries, and then placed fourth in some fancy high jump competition and started a winning relay team. He missed the last two track seasons because of leg and back injuries.

Mushers' Thornton Gets 4 Track Firsts

GOODING, April 4—Ted Thornton ripped off four first places yesterday to open the track season for nine teams at the Gooding State field and give the Camas County Mushers a tie in team standings with the Thornton-led Hagerman Pirates. Thornton was sharp for so early in the season, hitting 10.2 in the 100-yard dash, 21 flat in the low hurdles, and 23.1 in the 100-yard dash.

Sports

FROM ALL ANGLES

By LARRY HOVEY

Usually about this time the local interest in baseball becomes top news around this area. Not only are the major leagues getting ready to go but it is about the time the Magic Valley Cowboys usually start training camps.

Any local fever for baseball has to be directed at the majors for the time being. The Cowboys, with a shortened season, won't be here until June 10.

During the interim, it is feared some of the people are trying to talk themselves out of the idea of a rookie league — which the Pioneer loop will see this season.

Twice in the past few days we have been informed the rookie league will fall flat on its face because the players will be too young and inexperienced. Also that by June the usual baseball fans will be preoccupied with something else.

The answer to both is baloney.

The second statement is the easiest to disqualify. All you have to do is check on the attendance records over the past ten years. Jaycee park has been lucky to average 350 per night during the early weeks of the season due to the cold. The crowds start coming as the weather improves. Winning or losing records not withstanding, baseball, warm weather and attendance go hand in hand.

Due to the shortened season—33 games against 65 previously—the Cowboy management does not expect to break the 60,000 mark this year. It doesn't have to.

The second statement is a matter of druthers. Everything is going to be rookie in this league. These kids will be from 18 to 20 years old. But don't tell anyone it's never happened here before.

We don't recall anyone booing John Coster Shogley when he came to the plate in 1961. John was 18 and in his first year. He also hit 360 and was one of the best this franchise has ever had. No one booed Charlie Herzberger in 1958 when he pitched that 17-inning shutout. He was 17 at the time and so homesick he had trouble eating.

Of course, there have been rookies that have fallen flat here. Adolfo Phillips, in his first year, was a legitimate .189 hitter. People rallied at pitchers like Jeff Harval and Bob Kuber who got pretty fair money to sign but couldn't find the plate with anything except a gopher ball. Jim Ponceroff, 19, and Joel Gibson, 21, although rookies, weren't too bad.

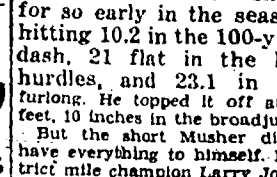

While people are poor mouthed about the rookie league, we think they should recall that in many cases it was a lackluster veteran—over four years in pro ball—that attracted the most displeasure.

It still is all a matter of luck. The San Francisco Giants will end in from 35 to 65 boys and they will keep the ones that they press them the most. They will send some boys who rated a shot, keep others that shouldn't have earned a high school letter. But in the final analysis, the Giants aren't spending $50,000 in Twin Falls just to give 20,000 fans something to do 33 nights during the summer.

The Giants are looking for the best. They plan to start the vast majority of their first-year men right here.

It will be little change from the pick-and-choose conferences the Phillies held the past three years to man a club here to give Magic Valley the two strong outfielders, a good shortstop and first baseman and three top pitchers. Fargo gets one good outfielder, strong third baseman and second baseman and a good catcher. It also gets the young pitchers and the good catcher.

There is no doubt the Phillies gambled at certain positions hoping to scrap by with makeshift help was available. This year they may be more like the pollock for us, but we don't mind the odds of getting nine representative ball players out of 65 against a calculated gamble.

Thornton, left, won the 100-yard dash, 21 flat in the low hurdles, and 23.1 in the 100-yard dash.

Thornton was sharp for so early in the season, hitting 10.2 in the 100-yard dash, 21 flat in the low hurdles, and 23.1 in the 100-yard dash.

But the short Musher didn't have everything to himself. District mile champion Larry Johnson, Gooding State, led the Bruins in the 100-yard dash.

The team scoring had Camas County and Hagerman tied up with 111 points each with points being awarded in six places per event. They were followed by Murtaugh 66, Carey 65, Gooding State 63, Castleford 59, Hansen 58, Richfield 21 and Bliss and District two each.

Most of the season teams, with several more being added, are expected to square off again next week at the Gooding State track.

Jerome Leads Oregon to Track Victory

STANFORD, Calif., April 4—Oregon sprinter Harry Jerome, continuing his comeback after a leg injury in 1962 nearly ruined his career, won the 100 and 200 yard dashes plus anchoring the winning sprint relay today as his team edged Stanford 74-71 in their dual track and field meet.

Jerome equalled the meet record of 9.5 seconds in the 100 and ran the 200 in 21.3 for his double victory before 4,000 fans on a sunny afternoon in Stanford stadium.

The runner from North Vancouver, B. C., suffered a leg injury in the British Empire games two years ago and underwent surgery. He missed the entire 1963 season but appears on fans' way to regaining the form which made him a co-world record holder in both the 100 yard and 100 meter dashes.

Three meet records fell as Oregon maintained its mark of never having lost a

Nicklaus Vaults Past Snead Into Greensboro Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 4 (AP)—Jack Nicklaus put together three consecutive birdies halfway through the back nine today to shoot a four-under-par 67 and vault past slumping Sam Snead into a three-shot lead after 54 holes of the $35,000 greater Greensboro open golf tournament with a 206 total. Snead, the leader by three shots through each of the first two rounds of the 72-hole tournament, was stunned by a triple bogey 6 on the seventh hole and wound up with 74 to drop to a four-way tie for second at 209.

Defending champion Doug Sanders charged back from a slow start to fire 60, winning $400 for the day's low round that tied him with Snead, Canadian Al Johnston and Australian Bill Dunk.

Al Geiberger's 70 put him alone in sixth place at 210, one stroke ahead of U.S. Open champion Julius Boros who was the co-leader with Larry Mowry through the first nine holes of the day's play.

Boros faltered to an incoming 38 for a 73 round over the par 71 Sedgefield Country club course, a 1,000-yarder. Mowry, out in 33, scored to 40 in the incoming nine for 73 that dropped him to 213.

Nicklaus, playing here only because show a week ago prevented him from practicing at home in Columbus, Ohio, for his defense of the Masters title next week-end, had five birdies and one bogey.

"I'm still not hitting the ball real solid, but it's been a little better every day," he said. "My front nine iron play wasn't good, but I got the ball closer to the hole on the back nine. I feel I will be hitting the ball better by the time the Masters opens."

Nicklaus had eight pars and a birdie from three feet on a short third hole in the 35th. He had to make three par putts of four to five feet after his initial efforts were short.

He knocked in a 12-footer to birdie No. 10 and took three to get down from the edge on No. 13, his only bogey. Starting on 13, he knocked in birdie putts of seven, eight and 15 feet. He missed a seven-footer on the final green that would have tied Sanders for the low round.

Snead battled back from bogeys on the fourth and fifth holes with an eagle on the long sixth. But on No. 7, a 171-yard, par 3 hole, he lost his lead.

His tee shot caught the edge of a trap and rolled back into the bunker. There was no way to hit under the ball cleanly and Sam whacked it three times before reaching the green. Then he needed two putts.

A bogey followed on No. 8 and the 51-year-old seven-time winner here, turned in 40. Coming back, he birdied 12 and 14, but went over par on 18 and 17, three-putting both. A birdie on 18 wound up a sad day.

DALLAS, April 4 (AP)—Southern Methodist university and Michigan State will play a football game at Lansing, Mich., on Sept. 27, 1969, Athletic Director Matty Bell said today.

Ostrich Takes First Spot in Noah's Ark

MIAMI, April 4 (AP)—An ostrich outran a camel, a llama, and two horses today and captured the Noah's Ark cup in the Gulfstream park Florida derby festival.

Winner Myrtle ran the furlong in 1:07 4-5 and probably would have gone faster if jockey Benney Sorenson had not fallen off five times.

Sorenson was clinging to Myrtle's neck with arms and legs at the finish. "I thought Myrtle was going to lay an egg, she was so excited," said trainer Jonny Rivers of Camdenton, Mo. "She has not laid any all year and she was on the verge, especially when we put her in the starting gate for the first time. If she had squatted, we would have had it."

Sam, a 12-year-old llama, finished second two lengths behind Myrtle. Rivers had predicted Sam and Ulysses, a guinea-or camel without a hump—would sit down in the middle of the track.

"They usually do," he said. Chief Plaudit and Steptoe, both Appaloosa horses, were skittish. Otherwise they would have fared better, Rivers said.

"Steptoe is scared to death of Myrtle."

Rivers said two other ostriches were supposed to be in the race, but got claustrophobia on the trip southward and were left at a Montgomery, Ala., ranch to recuperate.

The Noah's Ark race was one of a score of attractions staged in conjunction with the Florida Derby. Some 31,000 persons mingled under the palms to watch fashion shows and water ski performances and listen to two orchestras.

Miss Faulk Cops Golf Meet Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, April 4 (AP)—Mary Lena Faulk pulled four strokes ahead of the field Saturday and put herself in a commanding position to win the $10,000 St. Petersburg women's open golf tournament.

She fired a one-under-par 70, the day's best score, and jumped from third place with a total of 215.

Second-round leader Betsy Rawls, who won in 1958, fell off to a 78 for a three-round total of 216 and a tie with Kathy Cornelius, who shot a 71.

Clifford Ann Creed was fourth with 220. The veteran Patty Berg, former winner, also blew up to 77 for 221 and a tie with Sandra Haynie.

North Dancer Takes Derby By Length

MIAMI, Fla., April 4 (AP)—Northern Dancer, a compact little Canadian colt, sped to a one-length triumph in the $118,500 Florida derby today and stamped himself as one of the best 3-year-olds in the land.

Northern Dancer, 1 to 5 favorite with the crowd of 30,212, took the lead turning into the stretch and Jockey Willie Shoemaker looked back a few yards from the finish to make sure he had his third Florida derby.

The Scoundrel finished a strong second and Dandy K. was third in the 13th edition of this feature. They were followed by Roman Brother, Greek Episode, Ky. Pioneer, Ishkoodah and Saltville.

Northern Dancer ran the 1 1/4-mile in a slow 1:50 4-5 and paid $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20. The Scoundrel paid $4.00 and $3.20, while Dandy K. was $2.20 to show.

Northern Dancer, breaking from the inside post position, was fourth at the start but Shoemaker moved him up to third behind Greek Episode and The Scoundrel, in that order as they flashed past the stands.

Greek Episode continued to set the slow pace and Shoemaker coolly let him open up a three-length lead around the far turn. Northern Dancer started to move then and took over the lead as they rounded the turn into the stretch.

Meanwhile The Scoundrel

under Henry Moreno had moved into second and was driving but could not overtake the winner.

Randy K. came from fifth in the stretch and Roman Brother raced evenly in fourth as Greek Episode dropped to fifth at the finish.

Idaho State Opens Spring Grid Training With 17 Lettermen

POCATELLO, April 4—With defense of their 1963 Big Sky conference title up, permost in mind, coach Babe Caccia and his Idaho State university football squad open four weeks of spring practice in the Spud bowl Monday. The 17 Bengal lettermen expected to turn out do not include last year's all-conference first team selections John Miller, tackle; Ben Sanford, center; Nick Yorgas, halfback, and Ted Schmidt, fullback. However, second team all league choices Carl Humphrey at end and Billy Shaw, versatile quarterback, are back for one more season and figure highly in Idaho State's title defense plans.

Shaw ranked second in the Big Sky in total offense with 837 yards and paced the Bengals in scoring with 49 points. He is a two-year letterman from Nampa.

Other major losses by graduation on the Bengal squad are guard Gary Alzawa, honorable mention All-America, for three years; all league selections Kent Dean at end and Bob Helton, guard, and regular defensive end Paul Croghan.

"We're worried about our attack up the middle, so our primary concern during spring practice will be to find replacements at center for Sanford and at fullback for Schmidt," Caccia stated.

Boistering the squad since last season is two-year letterman end Rod Hohnhorst, who re-entered school after missing the 1963 season. Hohnhorst is 6 feet, 2 inches, 233 pounds and was a starter throughout his junior year.

Prospects up from the Bengal frosh include the two top backs, halfback Steve Kuharak of Idaho Falls and fullback Otha Roberts, Lovelock, Nev.

Center Robert Upshaw, tackles Roger Thomas and Bob Satterwhite, end Doug Rex and backs Jim Roberts and Russ Radford are among other freshmen seeking berths on the 1964 varsity.

Moving in from the junior college ranks are Don Neves from Boise JC, who plays both halfback and quarterback; end Ben Miller from Ricks college; tackle Roger Weber, Columbia Basin JC, and center Chuck Charlton, Carbon JC.

Caccia said the Bengals will skip practice every Wednesday, and the team will knock heads in the first major intra-squad scrimmage on April 17, which is university day on the campus.

The final wrap-up to spring drills will be an intra-squad game tentatively slated for May 2.

Blakeney Leads Cal to Track Win

LOS ANGELES, April 4 (AP)—Stocky Jim Blakeney scored 13 points and had a place on the 440-yard relay team to lead California to a 92-53 victory over UCLA today in a Big Six conference dual track meet.

The 182-pound Blakeney, a halfback on the Golden Bear football team, won the 100-yard dash in 9.7, the 220 in 22.2, was the leadoff man in the relay and placed second in the long jump.

California's Ron Gould was the other double winner of the afternoon at Westwood's Trotter Field, winning the high hurdles in 14.9 and the 330-yard hurdles in 40.4.

Bad Trades Lost Pennant For Cardinals

NEW YORK, April 4 (AP)—Bad trades cost the St. Louis Cardinals four or five baseball pennants, Stan Musial said Monday.

The former $100,000-a-year outfielder and first baseman who retired last year for a position of vice president with the St. Louis club and became head of the country's physical fitness program, was sharply critical of the Cardinal front office management in an article in Look magazine.

The sale of first baseman Johnny Mize by owner Sam Breaden and General Manager Branch Rickey to the New York Giants in 1941 for $50,000 and two players was described as "the worst mistake."

Mize, Musial said, was "one of the finest hitters I ever saw." Besides the sale of Mize, Musial listed as among the Cardinals' all-time worst trades:

In 1948, the sale of catcher Walker Cooper by Breaden to the Giants for $175,000.

In 1949, the sale of pitcher Murry Dickson by owners Fred Saigh and Robert Hannegan to the Pittsburgh Pirates for $125,000.

HAILEY CLAIMS BIG EIGHT TRACK CROWN

Schwager and Fowler Top Individuals

GOODING, April 4—Hailey's hustling Wolverines racked up another Big Eight conference championship yesterday with another show of depth and punch. Although the snow-bound Wolverines did all their training for this meet by running on U.S. highway 93, they picked up 54 points against runner-up Gooding's 43. Gooding just outlasted a surprisingly strong Shoshone showing by a single point. Kimberly, last year's runner-up, left four lettermen home with injuries and illness and had to settle for fourth at 39. Wendell had 30, Glenns Ferry, which had the big point man in Jim Schwager, had 30, Valley 15 and Filer 10.

Schwager, whose introduction to track came as a miler and is believed by coach Bob Belliston to be a natural half-miler, picked up three blue ribbons and a second place. He took the 100-yard dash in 10.5, the broadjump at 19 feet, 9 1/2 inches, and helped the 440-yard relay team to a victory and the medley to second spot.

But it was Hailey's day as coach Bob Shay displayed another conditioned bunch that was more than liberally sprinkled in each event.

The strongest race, and a preview of what should be a head-to-head battle every week from now on, came in the 440-yard dash with Jim Exner, a former Wolverine now running in Shoshone livery, just nipping Hailey Junior Blandford. Friday it was rather a matter of friendly revenge as the Wolverines had Blandford primed for supreme effort. But Exner, the district and regional defending champion, met it and just nipped the willing Blandford by four or five inches.

Mark Purdy, who knows his competition awaits in Gooding State's Larry Johnson, also indicated he was ready to challenge the man who beat him each time in five meetings last year. He stepped off the mile in 4:30.5 unopposed and saved enough to run a 220-yard leg of the medley later.

Kimberly got a splendid performance from senior Dennis Fowler, who managed a pair of victories and tied for second in the high jump. Fowler successfully defended his high hurdle title with a scant few inches to spare over Hailey's Hawkins. His tie in the high jump came with Hailey's Larry Hawkes.

But Fowler's strongest showing was the half-mile, which he won in 2:10.3. He stepped off the first quarter in 58 seconds but didn't have more than two steps on Wendell's Powell. They finished about the same way.

After Fowler Kimberly was depending largely on sophomore Denton, who won the high jump and tied for first in the pole vault.

As usual it was a team effort gave Hailey its second straight team title. But figuring very prominently in the scoring were Hawkins, Hawkins and Blandford. They participated in four events each and took points in almost all of them.

Lynch Powers Pirates Past Detroit 14-6

By The Associated Press
Jerry Lynch, Pittsburgh's pinch-hitting specialist, took advantage of a starting role, clubbed two homers, a double and a single, drove in four runs and scored four himself as the Pirates crushed Detroit 14-6 Saturday.

Lynch's four-for-four performance led a 20-hit Pittsburgh attack that also included a two-run homer by rookie Gene Alley. Don Demeter hit a homer for the Tigers.

Besides Alley, two other rookies played key roles—Minnesota outfielder Tony Oliva and Jeff Long of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Oliva smashed three doubles while Harmon Killebrew drove in three runs in the Twins' 7-4 victory over Kansas City. Ed Charles kept the A's in the game with a homer and two doubles.

Long collected three hits in a 15-hit Cardinal attack that overwhelmed the New York Mets 10-1. Charley James hit a three-run homer for St. Louis and Curt Simmons pitched five-hit ball for six innings.

Four other games turned into long struggles with the New York Yankees edging one half of the Chicago White Sox split squad 9-8, Cincinnati defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-6, Philadelphia beating Houston 9-6 and Boston outlasting the Chicago Cubs 9-7 in 14 innings.

Rookie Archie Moore stroked a two-run single that capped a five-run ninth inning uprising and won for the Yankees. Clete Boyer homered for New York.

Pete Rose's run-producing single in the ninth inning gave the Reds their victory over the Dodgers and ended a homer battle. Vada Pinson and Gordy Coleman connected for Cincinnati while Jim Gilliam, Willie Davis and Tommy Davis homered for Los Angeles.

John Herrnstein's two-run homer highlighted an eight-run second inning that gave the Phillies more than enough to withstand the Colts. Dick Farrell absorbed the second inning punishment.

The Red Sox won in the 14th when winning pitcher Arnold Earley singled across one of two runs in the inning. Paul Toth, the last of four Cub pitchers, set the stage for the loss with a throwing error.

The regular Cleveland third base coach, George Strickland, is managing the American League club until Birdie Tebbetts recovers from a heart attack.

Tebbetts had a heart attack Wednesday night and Strickland has been acting as manager since then.

Lorenzen Wins Race Of Champions

ATLANTA, April 4 (AP)—Fred Lorenzen, 34, won the 1964 fast-track Ford for Sunday's fifth annual Atlanta 500 stock car race by winning the six-lap race of Champions today. Lorenzen, Elmhurst, Ill., sits in the pole position with a record qualifying speed of 146.470 miles per hour. He is aiming for his third straight Atlanta 500 victory and a purse of $15,500.

Forty-two of the most powerful stock cars ever to race are entered. The qualifying rounds broke all records as all cars in the top 20 surpassed last year's top qualifying speed of 141.435 mph.

After out-running the previous winners Lorenzen said he made one lap at better than 146.5 mph. "She handled just like a kiddy car," he said.

Positions 21 through 42 were decided Saturday with Jim Hurtubise, North Tonawanda, N. Y., setting a 145.500 mph pace in a 1964 Plymouth. A consolation race decided the last 14 places.

Shoshone, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Viola Mae Wright, Madrid, Spain; a brother, William Cannon, Twin Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Garrett, Yuma, Ariz., and Mrs. Iva Hummel, Pueblo, Colo.; and 26 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Improvement Plans Made For Grange

DIETRICH, April 4—Plans for improvements at the Grange hall were discussed during a meeting Thursday.

Members voted to purchase a new electric stove and folding chairs for the hall and authorized the home economics chairman, Mrs. Sid Edwards, to select counter top material for cupboards built last year.

Ralph Towne, master, conducted the meeting and made announcements.

Howard Pittman and Afton Clegg were reported in the hospital. Nancy Boice is confined at her home after breaking a leg while skiing at Sun Valley. A benefit dance is planned for the Jack Tews family.

The Grange and Friendship circle will cooperate in providing funds to sponsor James Gage to Boys' State.

Mrs. Delbert Heiken, lecturer, read a recipe for happiness and conducted a question period.

Participating in an Easter hat-making contest were Mrs. Ralph Towne, Mrs. William Towne and Mrs. Sid Edwards.

Tentative plans were made to tour the potato plant at Heyburn before it closes this spring.

The next Grange meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. April 15 at the hall.

Increase in Air Travel Here Cited

SEATTLE, April 4—Twin Falls travelers made a substantial contribution towards record March and first quarter passenger sales announced Saturday by West Coast Airlines.

System-wide, 36,640 passengers were emplaned at 45 cities served by the line, bringing the first quarter total to 100,236. The percentage of gain in each case was 23 per cent over the 1963 totals of 29,708 for the month and 81,626 for the calendar quarter.

The monthly total ranks fourth highest in the company's 17 years of operations; the quarterly total is highest for a winter quarter.

The Twin Falls station boarded 1,014 passengers compared with 857 a year ago. During the first quarter of 1964, Twin Falls traffic amounted to 3,058, up 18 per cent over the previous year's figure of 2,595 for the quarter.

"We attribute our consistent pattern of traffic increment to public approval of faster, more frequent jetprop service initiated earlier this year, as well as aggressive promotional efforts through such means as lower excursion fares, young adult fares, and jetbus commuter service," said J. Nicholas Bez, Jr., assistant to the president.

Racing Group to Meet Tuesday at Burley City Hall

BURLEY, April 4—Mini-Cassia Karting association will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Burley city hall, reports William Schoen, president of the newly organized group.

Arrangements have been made with the Burley recreation department for assistance in the general programming and beautifying the Kartway track at Air-Maine park near the Burley airport.

Plans are being made to establish a code of ethics and rules for Karting enthusiasts—public education and encouragement to join the fun of Karting and U-Drive Karts available on rental fee for the general public's recreation and use at the Kartway track, Schoen says.

Racing plans for the summer are being worked out with Magic Valley race scheduled at airport.

All interested persons are welcome to attend the meetings.

Hard Core Unemployment Group Target of Jobs Corps Plans

ATHENS, O., April 4—A potential hard core unemployment group described as "young dynamite" will be the first and primary target of the jobs corps in President Johnson's "war on poverty."

Dr. Vernon R. Alden, energetic Ohio university president, named to set up the corps, described the goal today and said he believes the program "will strike at the very roots of poverty in America."

Alden said he referred to some 750,000 American males between the ages of 15 and 31 "who wander about in city slums and in rural areas without hope of escape."

He outlined the first phases of the jobs corps program which would cost 200 million dollars of the President's proposed 963 million dollar poverty war budget for the first year.

Legislation to finance the program now is pending in both houses of congress.

Alden, who will open a "boredom" job corps office Monday in Washington across from the White House, said tentative plans would place 40,000 draft rejects and school dropouts in education and training programs the first year.

"We'd like to boost that figure to 100,000 the second year," the former Harvard university associate dean said.

Alden said conservation training and educational-job training centers would be set up throughout the country to accommodate recruits for the program.

"We'll find the men through the use of 1,900 employment agencies, selective service centers, health, education, and welfare guidance facilities, schools, and in other ways," Alden, 43, a navy veteran, explained.

Asked whether the conservation training centers would be patterned after those of the old civilian conservation corps in the new deal days, Alden replied: "We will gain from their experience. But our program will have more to offer."

He said the conservation centers would be divided into three areas.

"One would be the work component, another physical fitness, and the third basic education."

"The job training centers would be more complex, because we expect to find that in some cases, the recruits will be unable to read and write," he added.

At the outset, Alden said he would like to see 200 conservation centers and 20 for job training.

Alden emphasized that the program will not get into social areas and provide a haven for "young dope addicts, habitual juvenile delinquents, and absolute misfits."

Shooting of Big Kodiak Bear Proves Thrill Of Lifetime for Resident of Twin Falls

By O. A. (Gus) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

Kodiak Island, in Alaska, is where the big bears of the same name grow.

One of them doesn't live there anymore. It was taken as a trophy by Mrs. Clyde Rosa, Twin Falls sportswoman, and although it did not break any established record for size, it was big enough to be officially entered in the Boone and Crockett club official publication.

The big animal's hide arrived the other day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rosa, 1016 Shoshone street north. It has been made into a rug and will be king of the Rosa's trophy and rumpus room.

Shooting the Kodiak bear (also known as the Alaska brown bear) was the high point of a dream Mrs. Rosa has kept in the back of her mind for years. She is an expert rifle shot and had hunted practically all types of big game except the Kodiak bear.

The animal was killed by Mrs. Rosa Oct. 15, 1960, on Chief Island, just off the northern end of Kodiak Island.

The bear weighed approximately 1,400 pounds and the skin measured 11 feet, one inch by 10 feet. The skull measurement was 16 and 9/16ths by 10 and 1/2 inches, giving it a total "square" of 27 and 5/16ths.

This figure put the animal above the minimum size for trophy listing and, as a result, will take its place among the largest bears ever killed with rifle fire.

"I was thrilled when informed that the animal would be listed among the big ones," Mrs. Rosa said. "I was more thrilled when the skin arrived in Twin Falls and we can now display it in our home. It sure looks big."

The kill was made with a Winchester 300 H and H magazine with a 200 grain No. 1 bullet. Mrs. Rosa fired five shots, four of which entered the animal's body before it finally dropped dead with one bullet in the heart.

Her first shot was at 100 yards, but from then on it was touch and go, with the bear moving rapidly about and not being quiet about the situation.

The animal was so large that during the skinning operation it took four men just to roll the body over. The meat, given to an Alaskan member of the party, was enough to last him and his wife for two years.

Headquarters for the 15 days of hunting was aboard the 37-foot fishing boat owned by Joe Maxwell, registered guide. Willard Johanson was assistant guide and Ray Truller was cook.

Hunting in the area features cruising the shoreline and taking turns watching through powerful binoculars. Frequent trips ashore for more minute inspection were made. During the period, nine bears were sighted, but they were smaller than the trophy animal Mrs. Rosa had set her heart on.

Weather during most of the hunt was overcast, with frequent rains and snow adding to the discomfort.

SKULL OF KODIAK bear she killed is inspected by Mrs. Clyde Rosa and her husband. Both made the trip north for the hunt, but Rosa did not participate actively in the bear hunt "because this was my wife's trip and it was up to her to get the trophy." The large skull exceeds the minimum size allowable for inclusion among the largest bears of this type to be killed by hunting. Mrs. Rosa's first shot at the animal was from a distance of about 100 yards in wet and cloudy weather. They saw nine bears during the hunt, but she did not shoot until the "big one I wanted" was spotted. (Times-News photo)

BIG CLAWS which served the Kodiak bear shot by his wife are inspected by Clyde Rosa. The skin of the animal has just arrived in Twin Falls and is now on display in the Rosa home. The animal will be listed in the Boone and Crockett club book as one of the biggest bears of the type to be taken by rifle. (Times-News photo)

Young Jewelry Designer, Artist Shuns Crowds for Home in Wood River Area

SUN VALLEY, April 4—Ardis M. Guy, the talented artist and jewelry designer who came west because she visited this resort once and couldn't get it off her mind, is going to stay.

This fact became all the more certain last month when she changed her name by marrying Gordon Eccles, a rancher and merchandiser in the Picabo area. The ceremony was performed in the Christian church, Twin Falls, on March 7.

Now, as Mrs. Eccles, she will continue her creative artistry under the name Ardis of Sun Valley, but her home now will be in Picabo, which is just a jump and a holler down the highway, she points out.

A graduate of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., she took up jewelry designing during her last year of school.

"I thought I'd follow the trade back east, but when I came to Sun Valley on a trip, skied awhile and then went back to the Chicago area, I couldn't get the country off my mind."

"It is so peaceful out here and people were so friendly. I just had to come to the West and here I am."

Her studio was established on nearby Warm Springs creek, but now will be moved to Picabo. Outlet for her creative jewelry designs, however, still will be at the Americana house in Sun Valley.

Asked why she and her husband had driven to Twin Falls to get married rather than in the resort area, her answer was to the point.

"We decided to get married in a quiet ceremony. The reception will come later, when we are settled, and then we can have the gang over to celebrate," she said.

With Mrs. Eccles, oil painting is more of a hobby than a business. "It calms me down," she admitted.

Not so with the jewelry design. Continued on Page 32

ORIGINAL DESIGN bracelet and earrings are modeled by Sally McAtee, Twin Falls, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank McAtee. The jewelry was created by Mrs. Gordon (Ardis) Eccles, Sun Valley, and features the snowflake design in the earrings and a skier on the bracelet. Miss McAtee is a senior at Twin Falls high school. Clues Probed In College Dropouts

NEW YORK, April 4 UP — Joe swept through high school with good grades and his senior class voted him the boy most likely to succeed.

That fall he marched off to college happily enough. But six weeks later he fled home, one more youngster in a huge and worrisome army of college dropouts.

Each year, one million American youths begin college. But before graduation day, more than half have quit.

Some lack money, some lack talent. But, by some estimates, at least half drop out because of emotional problems.

Now a special college dropout clinic has turned up clues to some of these reasons, as a first step toward preventing personal tragedies and waste of trained manpower to run the nation's affairs.

The clinic at the William Alanson White institute here has treated 43 college dropouts, both men and women, during the last two years.

One-third have successfully resumed college fulltime, and nearly as many are back in classes parttime, says Dr. Edgar A. Levenson, director of the dropout clinic.

Among reasons for dropping out—which may also apply to high school dropouts—clinic investigators found:

Some students had always dropped out of anything when the going got rough.

A few apparently were inevitably headed for psychotic episodes, wherever they were.

While some students who make poor grades enlist enough sympathy to get by, others manage to antagonize the school enough so they are dropped.

One quite startling finding, Dr. Levenson said, is that 25 per cent of the fathers of dropouts had themselves dropped out of college. The depression years had forced some to quit, but others stopped for a variety of other reasons.

Seventeen per cent of fathers had run into career setbacks, and 10 per cent were disappointed in their own careers. In about a quarter of the homes, the father was gone, through death, separation or divorce.

HOLDING THE RIFLE she used to kill the animal, Mrs. Clyde Rosa sits on the skin of the Kodiak bear she shot while on a hunting expedition near Alaska. She took five shots at the huge animal, and hit it four times, once through the heart. The skin measured more than 10 by 11 feet before being processed for preservation. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Mrs. John Stark, HAGERMAN, celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary March 22. This in itself is an outstanding event, but the fact that she and her husband will have been married 72 years on June 5 is even more outstanding. Stark is 93. Having come to Hagerman in 1912, Mrs. Stark has been active in the Methodist church since that time, holding offices on the official board and teaching Sunday school classes. She attends church services every Sunday. Another record is held by Mrs. Willa Justice, Hagerman, who is a charter member of the Hagerman Methodist church. Mrs. Justice will be 94 in July, and was 12 years old when she came to Hagerman.

The church was started in 1900, and services were held in an old rock building which was the first schoolhouse. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jolley, Hagerman, still use the building as their home.

According to Mrs. Justice, she and Mrs. Stark made doughnuts by the score for church dinners for many years. The present location of the church was the site for the first church, which was built in 1911 and remodelled several times since then.

Grandma Justice, as she is commonly known, was the first Ladies Aid president, and the first Sunday school superintendent. She also taught classes and was on the church official board. Many interesting tales of early days in the area can be related by the two women who have lived in Hagerman a total of 134 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Stark live alone and she is very active in her home, church work and Rebekah lodge.

Mrs. Justice lived alone until the cold weather this winter, and she has been with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Jones, Hagerman, since.

One of the few "Great Book" classes in high schools in Idaho is being taught at HAILEY by Jean Mixer, Blaine county guidance director. Students have had guest speakers at intervals during the term, with Mrs. Clyde Bacon, member of the JEROME library board, as the first speaker.

Mrs. Bacon dwelt on the history of great ideas. Starting from the Greek culture, she isolated the greater developments in thought which have contributed to current philosophy.

Drawing from the great authors the class has been reading, starting with Homer, she made the point that great books are the storehouse of all knowledge man has accumulated. For the length of time man has had the concept of knowledge, he has made great progress in spiritual and philosophical thought, she told the "honors class" in literature.

One of the special activities of the group was the presentation of Shakespeare's "Othello" at a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Homer Williams.

Ernest S. Molsee, who died in California where he and his wife were spending the winter, was one of the early pioneers of FILER and had lived in the town more than 50 years.

Born in Washington, he came to Filer in 1913 and seven years later came into the firm of Anderson-Molsee blacksmith shop. The shop, formerly owned by F. C. Anderson, was one of the first business houses in the town.

After Anderson retired from the business some years ago, Molsee operated it alone until his retirement five years ago.

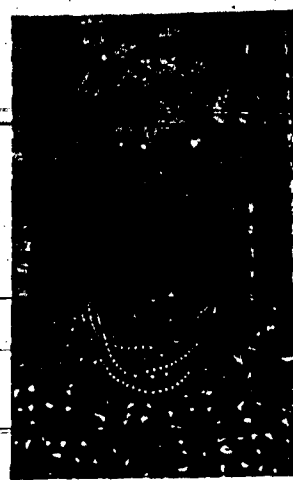

Molsee was interested in a number of sports and hobbies. He especially was interested in rock hunting. Some years ago he helped teach crafts at a summer camp for young people in the south hills. He was also a member for many years of the Twin Falls Camera club.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brandt, KETCHUM, have many large windows in their home up Warm Springs creek.

Mrs. Brandt has been cleaning recently. Not that it is time to start spring housecleaning, but she needs to remove the marks placed there by an inquisitive elk.

Some 17 head of elk have been nocturnal visitors at the Brandt home, which is the farthest up Warm Springs gulch from Ketchum, for several weeks.

While sitting in the house at night, watching television, the Brandts have had their attention drawn to the windows, where the animals seemed to be Hagerman women who have set records for longtime activity in the Methodist church. Mrs. Stark celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary March 22 and she and her husband will have been married 72 years on June 5. Mrs. Justice, who will be 94 in July, also has long service in the church. She came to Hagerman when she was 12 years old in 1852 and Mrs. Stark arrived in 1912.

trying to come in, rubbing their noses over the glass.

The past two summers the Brandts have planted many rare types of dwarf fruit-trees around their home and on the acre of land to the north and between their home and the Dollarhide summit road.

"The elk must have liked the taste of the bark, for they have eaten most of them down to snow level," Mrs. Brandt said.

"I tried for a time to lay up and go out and frighten them away, when I saw them coming down off the hill in the moonlight, but they soon got used to me."

Finally Mrs. Brandt took a radio, placed it outside the house and hooked it up to a loud speaker.

"That has kept them back up on the hillside," she said. The Brandt home is some distance from neighbors, so only the Brandts and the elk get the benefit of the music.

"I'm sure the elk can't be too hungry," Mrs. Brandt said, "because there has been some browse on the south hillside most of the winter."

BROTHER ILL

KING HILL, April 4 — Mrs. Carrie Foster returned this week from Santaquin, Utah, where she has been helping care for her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Johnson. Johnson has been ill with pneumonia.

Daughter of Local Couple Was in Quake

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carson, 1407 Maple avenue, owner and operator of Drive-Way market, received a letter from his daughter, Mrs. Mike Jessup, Richardson, Alaska, saying she and her family were uninjured by the earthquake.

In the letter she gave a brief description of what happened following the earthquake in Anchorage.

She said, "We are getting a little news over the radio. International airport is out of commission, the tower is down, runways are broken and the interior of the airport is pretty well demolished."

"There are huge crevices, one reported to be 30 feet deep, in the middle of Main street, and in another place, a vacant lot, there is a huge crater with four or five cars in it. Pavement of all the highways is broken and pushing cars up at 45 degree angles."

She said all the transportation from Anchorage is cut off. It was reported in the letter there was some looting in Anchorage, and that the downtown area is roped off.

of rough weather they became good sailors, not because they especially wanted to, but because they had no other choice. "You just cannot hunt or fish if you are sick," Rosa said, "so my wife and I decided not to get sick."

Most travel on Kodiak island is limited to airplanes or boats because less than 12 miles of highway is available.

Adding fuel to the story that everything in Alaska is big, was the story of a snowstorm which, in Idaho, would have set some kind of record.

While crossing the mouth of the channel at Zakar bay, snowflakes were encountered which actually measured three and one-half inches in diameter.

"They drifted down like great, big pancakes," Mrs. Rosa said. "I told Clyde there would be no friend back home who would ever believe us. The guide said that flakes this size were quite common in the area and he assured us that he had not arranged the storm just for our benefit."

Diversions on the trip included digging for clams, which were turned into clam chowder, and the capture of two octopi—one of which measured nine feet across and the other seven feet.

"They were really something to look at," Rosa commented. They also saw whales, porpoise, sea lions, seals, otters, foxes, deer, eagles, thousands of ducks, seagulls and cormorants.

"The game up there is fabulous," both husband and wife agree.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Rosa knew it at the time, but the most startling part of the journey was to come after the trophy bear had been shot and the trip back home was started.

They returned from Kodiak by the same route (air and boat) they followed to get there, but after arriving at Juneau they found they could make better connections by taking the inland ferry from there to Prince Rupert.

The large, modern ferry could carry 375 passengers and 80 cars, but because the trip was after the regular tourist season, the Rossa found only 12 passengers (including themselves) and six cars were aboard.

At Prince Rupert they picked up their station wagon and started the long drive home.

Two hundred and fifty-six miles later the car was a total wreck and both Mr. and Mrs. Rosa had come within a hair's breadth of being killed as a result of a head-on collision with a salesman from Vancouver, B.C., driving north. His name is A. M. Cunningham.

Eight days later Mr. and Mrs. Rosa were dismissed from the Sacred Heart hospital in Smithers, B.C., and allowed to return to Twin Falls by air. Cunningham had been dismissed three days earlier.

Both cars were demolished in the wreck. Mrs. Rosa was half through the windshield and her legs were pinned under the dashboard. Rosa had to be pried loose from under the driving wheel with a crowbar. The mishap occurred in front of a farmhouse occupied by the William Olegers, who notified police.

Right now, both local residents say that they feel "pretty good." Mrs. Rosa still has to undergo plastic surgery on her face—she was sewed up with 27 stitches around her eyes, mouth and on her forehead. She also had two broken ribs and lost four teeth. Rosa required nine stitches around his mouth and eight in one knee. Both were terribly bruised. "The two black eyes Clyde had were beauties," Mrs. Rosa laughs. "When we went through customs on route back to the states, people kept looking at us like we were something from out of this world. We sure looked beat up."

On returning to Twin Falls they were in Magic Valley Memorial hospital several days for further treatment. The plastic surgery for Mrs. Rosa and jaw and tooth repair or replacement for Rosa will come later.

Was the trip worth it? "I forget all the pain when I look at this great, big bear. Sure it was worth it," Mrs. Rosa said. And her husband, Clyde? He has plans to return to Smithers this fall for a moose hunt.

His companion will be a roommate who was a patient at the hospital while he was being fixed up for the trip back to Twin Falls.

GHOST TOWN FIRE DEPT.

Idaho's Newest Ghost Town, Now Open At Bliss, Termed Tourist Attraction

BLISS, April 4—A new town opens in Bliss Sunday. It might be termed a town within a town. It will have a firehouse, a church, a saloon, a silver shop and a drug store, just to name a few of the buildings. Most of it has been built right here, but some structures have been imported.

It will have the official name "Ghost Town." Actually, the new town is a new tourist attraction and sits on a rise just north of highway 30, about in the center of Bliss. It is built in the style of Knott's Berry farm in California.

Howard Hensley is in charge of construction and is general operator. The miniature community will feature many antique articles including automobiles, furniture, school equipment, opera house scenery and even bars for the jail windows. The area is dominated with some 16 buildings of authentic, early-day style, with appropriate signs on each.

The church in Ghost Town was moved here from Jerome, but most other structures were built on the ground.

"Gingerbread" trimmings were acquired from over the state. For instance, band fixtures were used in the old Idaho First National bank, Caldwell, and the railing at the main entrance and the windows came from the now demolished historic Dewey Palace hotel at Nampa.

Boy, 4, Hit By Car Here

Kenneth Lee Vance, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Vance, 1855 Osterloh street, was treated for cuts and bruises at Magic Valley Memorial hospital after he was struck by a 1961 Oldsmobile driven by Lee J. Troxell, 35, Piler, about 5 p. m. Thursday.

The boy was taken to the hospital by ambulance. Deputy Sheriff Dave Hunter, who investigated the accident, reported the boy ran between two parked cars onto Osterloh street, into the path of the Troxell vehicle.

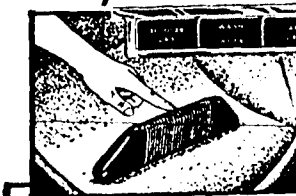

Hunter reported that Troxell was traveling at normal speed and already had started to apply his brakes when the child ran into the path of his vehicle. No citation was issued.

A part of the five-point program, this experiment, if successful, will restore spawning runs of migratory fish in these streams and open up many miles of new spawning water. Idaho Conservation Officers Must Be Ready to Answer Any Questions

By JIM HUMPHREY

Idaho fish-game department BOISE, April 4—Anyone wearing a uniform of the Idaho fish and game department is expected by the public to be an authority on all phases of wildlife conservation. This is true whether his actual job is fish or game biologist, law enforcement, hatchery worker, conservation educator or whatnot. He must be well-grounded in the biological fields of fish and game and have a working knowledge of forestry and land management.

All this is on the plus side, in addition to knowing all the tricks of the trade in law enforcement, or whatever his specialty might be. He must be a conservationist as well as an officer in addition to a dozen or so other specialties.

Director John R. Woodworth says any professional personnel must understand how each job fits into the overall wildlife management program.

In other words, top-notch wildlife workers at all levels must be thoroughly versed in all the department's activities, and be completely sold on each of them, before they can advise the public properly about the type of program the department is carrying out and hopes to accomplish at all levels.

District meetings for all professional employees are held around the state three times a year, timed to review principally seasons and regulations on big game, birds and fish before final recommendations are made to the Idaho fish and game commission. Any subject may be brought up for discussion at these meetings—and generally is.

For the past nine years the department has been holding an in-service training school in March, a time when most personnel are least busy. Fundamental to this three and one-half day school are classroom lectures and demonstrations presented by the department's five divisions in the fields of game management, information and education, business administration, fisheries management and conservation enforcement.

About 160 employees registered last month for the school, which was held at the officer's club of the Idaho air guard at Gowen field, south of Boise, where the men attend classes and lectures, as well as eat and sleep.

Outside speakers featured talks on pollution control problems by Dr. Clarence Tarzwell, chief aquatic biology section, division of water supply and pollution control, department of health, education and welfare, Cincinnati, O., wildlife management by Dr. Duward Allan, department of forestry and conservation, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., and criminal psychology by Dr. Dallas J. Reed, Idaho State University, Pocatello.

The nub of Dr. Tarzwell's talk was the necessity for retaining fresh water for man's manifold purposes. To do that, for effective and efficient reuse, each user must return his used water to its source or to another stream in such condition that it is suitable for another use. In short, effective and efficient reuse requires a knowledge of the quality of water required for each of mankind's desired uses; but this is not known in its entirety.

For example, Dr. Tarzwell says even the quality of water required for human beings is unknown. What concentration of the new synthetic, organic pesticides is safe in the water supply under conditions of continuous use? He says no one can answer that because it is not known. What are the allowable concentrations of heavy metals under conditions of continuous water use? That isn't known either.

Dr. Tarzwell says the key to effective and efficient water reuse is water quality criteria and standards defining the quality of water required for each of its many uses. He classifies these under eight main headings: domestic or municipal, industrial, agricultural, recreational, aquatic life, esthetic, power and navigation.

"Now, for your municipal and domestic uses, you want water just about as pure as you can get it," Dr. Tarzwell points out. "You want it free from taste and odor; you want it free from disease germs; you want it free from toxicants that might have an effect at low levels when consumed over long periods."

"On the other hand, industry wants water that is suitable for its manufacturing processes. Some do not require a very high level of water quality. In the stainless steel industry, the chlorides should be under 50 parts per million. Agriculture wants water for stock and irrigation. If water is being reused after receiving some industrial waste, it may contain concentrations of various metals or other materials that become toxic to plants under irrigation."

"Water quality standards must be set up for irrigation, for stock, for industry and for domestic uses," Dr. Tarzwell stresses. "We need water quality criteria for recreational use, for boating, swimming, water skiing and all of the water-based sports. And, of course, we need some water quality criteria for the protection of aquatic life."

He talked about the esthetic value of water, something which often is dismissed because a money value cannot be placed on it.

"Most of our recreation is water-based," Dr. Tarzwell said. "If we lose these esthetic things in our lives, things we have grown up with, things that man has evolved with, we're losing essentials that are necessary to our very existence, and esthetic values must be stressed."

With respect to power and navigation, Dr. Tarzwell commented that "if it flows, it may be satisfactory. Of course, it can get too acid or too hot for cooling purposes in stream generation. There is some standard needed for water quality which is to be used even for power and navigation."

"Water quality criteria for aquatic life must be established so that environmental conditions can be restored or maintained which are essential for the survival, growth, reproduction and general well-being and production of a crop of these organisms."

Dr. Tarzwell summed up his talk by saying that water pollution is the addition of any material or any change in quality or character of water which interferes with or lessens or destroys a desired use.

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT . . .

Heyburn Resident, Irked by Rundown Park, Began Many Village Projects

HEYBURN, April 4—One of the most vivacious community supporters here is Mrs. Vlado (Leah) Scovill. A woman who has worked with the public 25 years, Mrs. Scovill is finding it difficult to retire from community service. The village board reluctantly accepted her resignation as chairman of the village recreation committee last month. She resigned because of her health.

During her five-year period of service, she helped turn the village park, which was referred to as the old cow pasture, into an $8,000 development project. She instigated the annual Arbor-day celebration and annual turkey shoot, and helped direct all the projects to finance the development.

Mrs. Scovill would start in March soliciting ways and means to complete the project and would continue throughout November.

She was closely assisted by local residents and Mini-Cassia businessmen, but still took it upon herself to go out several times a week in hopes of making further progress. She has done so much fund soliciting for the recreation department projects, that it seems the merchants sense what she wants before she starts talking.

Mrs. Scovill seems to be the cheerful "Johnny on the spot" sort of person. She has filled in many times at different occasions because someone was short of help.

When she was a young girl in a family of four girls and one boy, she found herself substituting for the "other boy" the family didn't have.

While helping her father and neighbors haul hay and work with the farm produce, she found herself nicknamed "Lee" by male working companions. When the neighbors were short a helper, there frequently was an SOS sent to "Lee."

She recalls the time a neighbor lacked sufficient help with the hay and sent a girl to find Lee. A few minutes later the girl knocked at the door and asked for the little brother, only to learn the hard-working farm hand was really a girl named Leah.

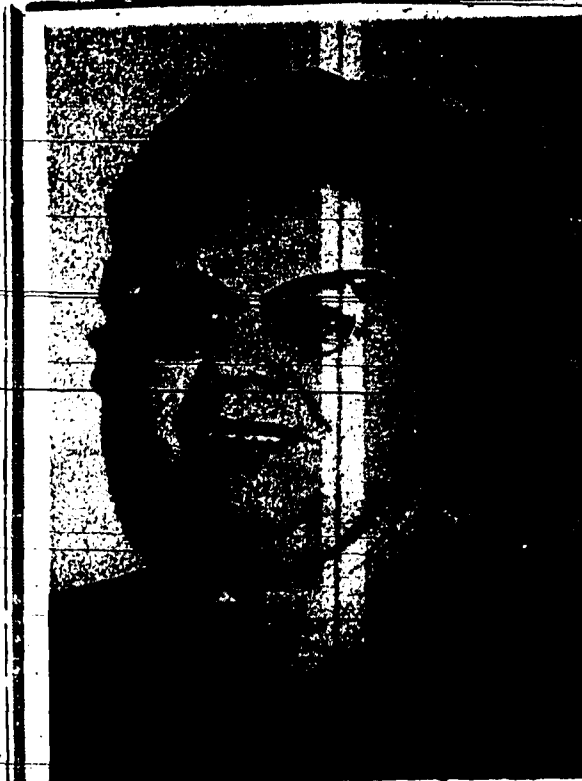

Mrs. Scovill was born June 25, 1911, in Spanish Fork, Utah, to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Lewis. The family lived at Spanish Fork for five years after she was born. She was next to the youngest in the family. They moved to Burlington, Wyo., and tried cattle ranching a year, but Mr. Lewis liked farming and the family moved to the Starr's Ferry district, west of Burley.

The family owned a one-seat, horse-drawn buggy which was the means of transportation. The youngest children rode in the buggy, but the oldest ones walked.

She recalls the first few years of school transportation was by a horse-drawn, canvas-covered school wagon. She was one of the littlest youngsters to ride the bus and the first to get on in the morning.

Garrett Lee, the driver who also was attending high school in Burley, would let her share the heated bricks and quilt he provided to keep his legs and feet warm. The family lived about four miles from school.

Mrs. Scovill was graduate from Burley high school in 1930 and married Vlado Scovill in December of that year. They settled in Burley and raised four children, Mrs. Noel Howett, Burley; Mrs. Gary Johnson, Logan; and Mrs. Lynn Edlsten, Burley. Lewis Scovill lives at home and attends Minico high school. They settled in Heyburn in the fall of 1952.

She is active in the LDS church and has served in the Primary and MIA organizations 15 years. She has served as president of each.

She started working in public at the age of 16 for J. C. Pixton and the late Gene Price. She managed the Arctic Circle five years, and was employed by the Amalgamated Sugar company for 13 years.

She later resigned herself to staying at home. But this didn't last long before that familiar urge hit her to start doing something.

She said, "That poor rundown park bothered me to the extent I started pulling at Bud, her husband, and the village managers to do something about it." Before too long she had joined forces with Mrs. Lazzie Greenhough, a village board member, and talked the men into developing a new village park.

In 1959, the plan was approved and Mrs. Scovill was appointed chairman of the first recreation committee in Heyburn. The land was cleared and seeded that fall.

Mrs. Scovill became so involved in the development project that the park soon was referred to by some as "Leah's baby." She remembers the first blade of grass peeking through the newly worked soil.

At the time of her resignation, she had seen $8,000 worth of improvements in the park.

More About Juggling

In its 1962 annual report, the Bonneville Power Administration said its accumulated operating surplus at fiscal year's end was $20,111,000.

In its 1963 annual report, BPA revised the 1962 figure to $28,438,000—a paper improvement of $8,327,000 accomplished by a stroke of the pen.

It was done by bookkeeping "adjustments." The word covers changes in the Bonneville books which add up to this: shifting a greater expense load to taxpayers.

This $8,327,000 improvement by bookkeeping came in handy for counteracting the Bonneville operating loss in 1963 (its sixth consecutive loss in as many years).

Shrug it off, if you can, but remember this sleight of hand is part and parcel of getting you to believe Bonneville's power rates are truly cheap.

The fact is: Bonneville sells subsidized power below cost to a handful of "preferred" customers. Taxpayers—like you and us—make up the difference.

Gem Farmers Prepare for Sugar Battle

IDAHO FALLS, April 4 (UP)—Southeast Idaho farmers this week prepared for a new battle with the U.S. department of agriculture on sugar beet quotas for production within the United States.

Growers for the past two years have been enjoying an added quota that is normally allocated to foreign producers.

The windfall came about when Cuba and other off-shore producers couldn't or wouldn't meet their allocations granted them under a sugar bill passed in 1958.

But U.S. growers fear that the temporary allocation given them will be taken away if and when foreign countries express an interest in re-instituting their full trade allotments with the U.S.

Idaho legislators have introduced a bill in congress, along with representatives from other sugar growing states, which would increase the amount of processed sugar produced in the U.S. by 750,000 tons.

With the former foreign quotas now grown in the U.S., gem state sugar beet growers face "drastic acreage cuts unless congress increases the basic sugar act marketing quotas, according to Jack D. Claborn, Kimberly, president of the Idaho Beet Growers Association.

Claborn claims that in time of need, when the USDA had to have domestically-produced sugar, U.S. growers came in "to provide more sugar at reasonable prices for U.S. consumers."

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, April 5—Born today, you have your share of determination and will power, but you are also inclined to be restless and somewhat discontented with your lot. This is a combination of characteristics which could lead to impulsiveness, and the wasting of good energy in the pursuit of impractical enterprises. Learn to control your urge for change; look about you and see how well off you really are!

Once you have learned to move forward in one straight line toward a preconceived goal, you will be on your way to success. You have a nose for news and a way with words and might do well to consider a career in which these would be major assets. On the other hand, you have a keen dramatic sense and a flair for pleasing audiences; the theater might well turn out to be your world.

Your capabilities are high, your limitations no more than the restrictions you place on yourself so as not to spread yourself over too large an area. Be careful in your selection of a mate. You will hardly achieve happiness in marriage unless your companion is intellectually and emotionally your equal. Find such a one, however, and you should be very happy indeed.

PUTTING FINISHING touches on a sterling silver horse which someday will be turned into a decorative piece of jewelry is Mrs. Gordon (Ardis) Eccles, Sun Valley-Picabo. The handmade jewelry, which she designs herself, is finding a ready market. The Times-News engraving plant in Twin Falls is possible a new process in sterling silver design production, declares. Although moving to Picabo, she will still maintain Sun Valley outlet. (Times-News photo) custom made, by hand.

"I work with jewelry creations because I like to give expression to my ideas," she said.

And her ideas are many. In fact, she had one which has proved unique.

She creates various jewelry designs by drawing them. Then she makes the sketch to the Times-News engraving plant in Twin Falls, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elestein.

"Through the engraving process," Mrs. Eccles relates, "they make line engravings from the drawings. These are made directly on sterling silver. They are returned to me, I cut out the figures and shape them, then fire them and color them. They end up as earrings, bracelets or sign. Her jewelry creations are brooches, for instance."

She points out that even the nationally known engravers in the East would not take on the job of making such line engravings on sterling silver.

"If it had been then for Mr. and Mrs. Elestein in Twin Falls my idea would never have materialized. They did the job even though the Eastern engravers said it couldn't be done."

Her hobby painting leans toward animals, although, once in a while, "just for kicks," she paints in the modern manner.

With jewelry design, however, it is serious business.

When marriage plans were completed, she designed and casted the wedding ring for her husband-to-be.

"He didn't make the ring but gave me," she laughs, "but it is a beautiful diamond formerly owned by his grandmother."

Mrs. Eccles is the only silver designer left in Wood river valley. "Sundance" Cravat, who formerly was in business in Halley, has moved to Bliss, where he will run a shop in the newly established "Ghost Town."

She is a member of the Amercan Craftsman's council, New York City.

"Even if I was engaged in something but just living in this beautiful area, it would be worth it," Mrs. Eccles said.

"Unless a person has lived in the crowded centers of the Midwest and the East, they have no idea how nice and fortunate it is to be living in a wonderful place like Idaho and the Wood river valley."

Oakley Holds Yearly Water Forecast Meet

OAKLEY, April 4.—The amount of precipitation in the next two months will determine whether we get 35,000 acre feet of water from March 1 to the end of the irrigating season, Oct. 1, or not," predicted Morley Nelson, Boise snow survey official for the soil conservation service at the annual water forecast meeting held at the high school Wednesday.

He pointed out that the present snow pack is "very good" and the ground under the snow did not freeze during most of the winter. He also pointed out that in a period from 1943 to 1957 the average inflow to the reservoir was 34,000 acre feet while this year its is predicted 35,000 feet.

The Canal company reports the reading taken March 30 was 60.8 feet or 14,505 acre feet compared with 69 acre feet or 18,780 acre feet with an inflow in 1958 of 119 second feet compared with last year's 55 second feet.
